Sun Valley auto wreck kills man

SUN VALLEY — A young man was killed about 5:40 p.m. Saturday in a single car accident on the Sun Valley road.

City police in Sun Valley were investigating the accident and said late Saturday the name of the victim could not be released pending notification of his parents, who live out of state.

The accident occurred on the road to Trail Creek but within the Sun Valley limits.

Officers said they have not determined what caused the vehicle to go out of control and roll over. The young man died at the scene. He was apparently alone in the vehicle.

Hijackers take Dutch jet to Tunis

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Arab hijackers seized a Dutch DC9 jet over France Saturday night with 83 persons aboard. The plane refueled at Tunis, then took off toward the east, apparently bound for Syria or Libya, police said.

Tunisian police said the plane was apparently bound for Damascus, Syria, but did not rule out the possibility of a landing in Libya where the regime of Col. Muammar Khadafy has received several Palestinian hijackers in the past.

Report claims harm in balanced budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Joint Economic Committee staff report, warning against "blind adherence" to fiscal policy rules, said Saturday a balanced federal budget would have caused more rather than less unemployment during the past decade.

The report was released by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who said it disproved the theory government deficits are at the root of the nation's economic problems. It came a day after the Labor Department report unemployment at 7.9 per cent, the highest this year.

Korean true site agreement near

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Representatives of the U.N. Command and North Korea met Saturday and South Korean sources said agreement on new security measures for the true village at Panmunjom was imminent.

A UN spokesman said the military secretaries of both sides met for more than three hours Saturday in closed session. He said another round of talks was scheduled for Monday.

As usual, the UNC maintained a news blackout on the talks Saturday, a continuation of the 44th secretaries meeting of the Military Armistice Commission under way since Tuesday.

Ford, union discuss key demand

DETROIT (UPI) — With a strike deadline just ten days away, Ford Motor Co. and United Auto Workers union negotiators discussed Saturday a key union demand for less time on the job for the company's 170,000 workers.

Ken Bannon, UAW vice president who heads the union bargaining team at the "target" company, said the No. 2 automobile was at least discussing the idea of giving workers more time off. He said he was hopeful there would be a settlement to avert a nationwide walkout before the end of the current three-year contract midnight Sept. 14.

Idaho forest fire near control

MC CALL, Idaho (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service said Saturday night the 1,000 acre Jeannot Creek fire in the Payette National Forest should be controlled by Sunday night.

The fire did not spread Saturday but crews were slowed by dense forest and steep terrain.

Fire Inspector Al Stillman said he found a tree which had been struck by lightning and apparently the fire smoldered in the tree for several days before bursting loose.

Argentine shootout kills guerrillas

Buenos Aires, Argentina (UPI) — Army and police troops killed five left-wing guerrillas Saturday in a fierce, three-hour shootout in a Buenos Aires suburb, the army announced. A private news agency said the guerrillas killed three children, slitting their throats before themselves died.

The official communiqué said the five terrorists were members of the breakaway Peronist guerrilla group, the Montoneros. It made no mention of the children.

Peterson to leave US post Oct. 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russell W. Peterson will resign as head of the President's Council on Environmental Quality Oct. 1 to organize and direct a new citizens' lobby group called "New Directions," the White House announced Saturday.

In a letter of resignation released by the White House, Peterson told President Ford the organization he plans to form will become a new political force in America.

Ford accepted Peterson's resignation "with the deepest regret" but said he could understand the "rare opportunity" behind Peterson's decision.

Maddox claims conservatism standard

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Lee Maddox said Saturday he is taking up the banner of conservatism left fallen by the defeat of George Wallace and Ronald Reagan.

The former Georgia governor said the American Independent party is now a major force in politics and might take legal action to force its inclusion in the Ford-Carter presidential debates.

Maddox told a news conference at the state's semi-convention he refused to be a candidate for national political office "unless and until George Wallace, the former Governor of Alabama, ceased to be a candidate."

Top G-man retains his job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford said Saturday there are no grounds to fire FBI Director Clarence Kelley for accepting gifts and services from subordinates, and Kelley will remain in his post.

"The President has concluded that no adequate justification exists for terminating the services of Clarence Kelley," White House press secretary Ron Nessen said in announcing Ford completed his review of a Justice Department report on Kelley's case.

Nessen, in his statement, said Ford "reaffirms his support for Director Kelley in the latter's efforts to lead and strengthen the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

He said the President "carefully considered" the report Levi gave him Friday concerning Kelley's admission he accepted some gifts from FBI officials and FBI carpenters had installed drapery valances in his home free of charge but bursing the government for any questionable items.

"I believe Clarence Kelley has had and will continue to have the capacity to meet the essential high standards of the FBI," Nessen said — attributing that remark as a direct quotation from the President.

Nessen, in his statement, said Ford "reaffirms his support for Director Kelley in the latter's efforts to lead and strengthen the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

He said the President "carefully considered" the report Levi gave him Friday concerning Kelley's admission he accepted some gifts from FBI officials and FBI carpenters had installed drapery valances in his home free of charge but without his knowledge.

Kelley reimbursed the government $353 for the valances Thursday, two days after he disclosed he himself had come under the scrutiny of Justice Department investigators probing alleged financial corruption among FBI officials.

"With respect to certain services and articles furnished to the director of the bureau," Nessen said, "the President notes these were either for official work at home during the terminal illness of Mrs. Kelley (who died of cancer) or were items which the director initially did not know or understand were coming from government sources."

"The President accepts the view of the Department of Justice that Mr. Kelley, who has offered to do so, be permitted to make reimbursement as to any items about which there is the slightest question."

"Less than an hour before Ford formally cleared Kelley of the financial impropriety allegations, Levi issued his own statement to the same effect."

"It is our view that Mr. Kelley should remain as director of the FBI and that he should reimburse the bureau as he has sought to do, for goods and services as to which there may be even the slightest question," Levi said.

"The office of deputy attorney general has been designated to work with Mr. Kelley on this matter," he said in a six-page statement.

TF police probing county fund theft

TWIN FALLS — From a request to fingerprint an employee in his office, Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder learned of an investigation into why about $400 is missing from his safe.

Capt. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives for the Twin Falls Police Department, said the money belonged to the Office of Prosecuting Atty. William Hollifield.

The request to fingerprint an undisclosed number of employees in the sheriff's office was made during the past week.

On Aug. 11, Hollifield called police to report restitution funds being temporarily held by his office were missing from a safe in the office of the magistrate court in the county judicial building.

The most peculiar aspect of the theft, according to officials involved, is that money was left in the safe. The restitution funds were the only money taken.

Qualls said the police department has been investigating the theft since Aug. 11 and is making progress.

He declined to say exactly how far the investigation had progressed or whether it had turned up any suspects.

The investigation included the fingerprinting of several employees in the sheriff's office last week, according to Corder. This was how he first found out about the case. It was never reported to his office.

"They just came in and wanted to take some finger prints of some of the employees who take money over the magistrate court in the form of bonds," Corder said.

When asked if he thought there was any connection between this theft and the money taken from a petty cash fund in the sheriff's office several weeks ago, Corder said he did not think so.

Corder seemed confused why he had not been informed about the theft.

"It is probably a County-matter," he said. "But at this point I don't know very much about it."

The deal was that they just borrowed a shelf in our safe," McMullen said. "They came and said 'Hey, we have this money in our safe.'"

The safe is usually open in the morning by McMullen. It is left open during the day when people are in the office, and it is locked at night.

The secretary from the prosecutor's office discovered the money was missing when she came into the magistrate court office to use the safe. Apparently no one in the office noticed the money was missing before because it was not a county fund and therefore was not kept close track of.

According to McMullen, the safe was never found open when it should not have been.

"There are about five people in the office and they have access to the combination of the safe and know where it is kept," she said.

No one else is supposed to know the combination.

the situation. I think I should have been informed of it and filed on the particulars of it so we could all work together."

The safe, which is kept in the magistrate court office, is used for money belonging to the county. It was unusual that the restitution funds, which did not belong to the county, were in the safe.

County Clerk and Auditor Harold Lancaster, who oversees all money passing through county offices, was surprised to discover the restitution funds were in the safe to begin with.

"Mr. Hollifield told me about the theft," Lancaster said. "I had no knowledge that there were any funds in that safe except my own."

Dorothy McMullen, who works in the magistrate court office, said her bond money from the sheriff's office and revenues from the court in the form of fines and legal fees are normally all that is kept in the safe.

There is a specific procedure for depositing any funds in the safe, according to Lancaster. The funds are received by the auditor's office and an auditor's certificate is written up to show receipt of the funds. The certificate is then submitted to the county treasurer.

This was not done in the case of the restitution funds, because they were not county property.

"McMullen said her office allowed the prosecutor's office to store the restitution funds in the safe because the prosecutor had no safe in his office.

"The deal was they just borrowed a shelf in our safe," McMullen said. "They came and said 'Hey, we have this money in our safe.'

The safe is usually open in the morning by McMullen. It is left open during the day when people are in the office, and it is locked at night.

The secretary from the prosecutor's office discovered the money was missing when she came into the magistrate court office to use the safe. Apparently no one in the office noticed the money was missing before because it was not a county fund and therefore was not kept close track of.

According to McMullen, the safe was never found open when it should not have been.

"There are about five people in the office and they have access to the combination of the safe and know where it is kept," she said.

Forschler may drop 'port job

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

BURLEY — George Fischler said Saturday he probably will not run for reelection to the South Idaho Regional Airport Authority board.

Fischler is currently chairman of the board. He became involved about 10 years ago when the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce first launched the effort toward a regional airport.

Petitions have been circulated in Cassia County for Ed Elliott, Burley, who was president of the South Idaho Chamber when the project was begun. He is seeking the Cassia County position now held by Fischler.

"I am not sure," Fischler said Saturday. "It looks like I'm not going to run again."

"I am definitely making an announcement next week," Fischler said.

The airport authority chairman referred to a regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Rupert law enforcement building.

C. Bruce Young, administrative officer for the authority, said the master plan for the regional airport in eastern Jerome County is expected to be discussed, but he added the agenda has not yet been prepared.

Young said the authority is awaiting reports on the master plan from the State Department of Transportation, the technical review board and the Federal Aviation Administration, among FAA officials said their report probably will not be ready for another week or two.

There have been rumors Fischler might resign as chairman even before the board election. He did not comment Saturday on that possibility, but it has been reported within the board.

"Maybe it's time to make room at the top," Fischler said.

Viking 2 damage feared

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's second Viking was damaged slightly while landing in a field of rocks late Friday but a direct report from the pilot Saturday night indicated it was working normally on the surface of Mars.

There was still some concern that a rough landing may have caused hidden damage, however, and not all systems aboard the spacecraft will be tested for several days.

"We have a healthy machine on the surface," reported Dr. Al Hibbs from mission control on the basis of what engineers had seen after Viking 2 had spent a full day on the rocky Utopia plain.

Project Manager James Martin said a two-inch tear in Viking 2's 20-foot aluminum dish antenna meant the spacecraft was damaged in Friday's landing, possibly by coming down a rock that might have kept the shock absorber in a landing leg from working.

If that were the case, Martin said "you have to worry about damage to the lander body and damage to anything inside." In the area where a rock might have been hit are the electronic control assemblies for Viking's surface sampling scoop and its life detection experiments.

In any case, he said, "I believe something hit fairly hard some place."

Martin said the antenna did not appear damaged enough to affect its transmission capabilities, although it was not immediately known if its steering apparatus was damaged.

Viking 2, a three-legged craft seven feet high and 10 feet wide, was tilted at an eight-degree angle on a relatively flat sandy plain littered with rocks. It was considered a good place to look for evidence of Martian life.

Burley man dies

NEVADA CITY (UPI) — Two men were struck next to the disabled vehicle along State Highway 20, the California Highway Patrol said.

Mike V. Stewart, 23, Burley, Idaho, was killed instantly when he was hit by a car as it rounded a curve. A 32-year-old Lookout man, whose identity was withheld pending notification of relatives, was also struck and killed.

Dennis W. Zaito, 21, a Navy seaman stationed aboard the U.S.S. "Nagara" and the driver of the second car, was booked into the Nevada County jail on a charge of felony drunk driving.

Gem Reagan backers swing to Ford

By CHRISTOPHER BOGAN
Times-News writer

BOISE — As August's Republican national convention recedes into memory, even the most ardent supporters of Ronald Reagan seem to be getting over their disappointment and supporting Gerald Ford.

In a reaction against Jimmy Carter, Idaho's conservative Reagan supporters are drifting back to President Ford.

The national opinion polls, which showed Carter some 30 percentage points ahead of Ford at the end of the Republican national convention, now less than three weeks later indicate Ford is only 10 percentage points behind, and the Republican Party in Idaho and throughout the country seems to be uniting behind the President.

"I feel a little battered and bruised," said Rep. Steve Symms, an Idaho Reagan delegate at the convention. "But I made a good one and Gov. Reagan made a good one, and I am going to support the President and Dole, and I think we have a good chance to take Idaho."

Symms is not the only Reaganite from Idaho to openly swing over to Ford. Idaho Attorney General Wayne J. Kidwell, Leora Day, chairman of Idaho Volunteer Citizens for Reagan, and Idaho Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa — all staunch supporters of Reagan at the convention — have joined the Ford camp and say they will actively work for the President.

"I am ready and willing to work for Mr. Ford," Cenarrusa said. "I announced this in the state convention in Moscow and when I gave my talk to the committee I urged everybody to get behind the standard bearer. And I got a resounding applause at the convention with that idea."

Dave Leroy, Ada County prosecutor and chairman of the President Ford Committee in Idaho during the primary campaign, said the reaction of the Idaho Reagan supporters has been "uniform and consistent."

"I think without knowing positively that every Reagan supporter in the state will be in the camp as a worker and supporter in the upcoming campaign," Leroy said. "I don't know of a single defector yet."

It is not hard for those who liked Reagan to support Ford, the Reaganites now in the Ford camp indicate. They were not so much against Ford as they were for Reagan, and an apparent deep drift... for Carter makes the switch for them an easy transition.

"I think the alternative of Mr. Carter and Mr. Mondale is extremely dangerous," Kidwell said. "And I am wholeheartedly supporting the President." (Continued on P. 3)

Experts propose crackdown on cough, cold aids ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government-sponsored panel of scientists is recommending a crackdown on advertising for nonprescription cough and cold remedies, on which consumers spend millions of dollars a year.

Special attention should be given to cases where children might be exposed to sales pitches for over-the-counter remedies, their report says.

The study is part of a Food and Drug Administration review begun in 1971 of all nonprescription medicines by panels of outside experts. The report covering cough and cold remedies is the latest to be finished, and is expected to be released next Wednesday.

The review panel said its job was to review the ingredients for safety and effectiveness but the scientists felt compelled to go further because "advertisements extend the label beyond the pharmaceutical 'counter' or medicine cabinet. The public may well receive most of its attitudes toward cough-and-cold remedies from advertisements," particularly on television.

They urged the Federal Trade Commission, which regulates advertising, to go after any ad for cough or cold medicines that "claims" or misrepresents warnings and instructions on the label. The report said the FTC also should attack ads "using portrayals or words that lead consumers to believe the preparations cure, when actually they only alleviate symptoms."

The panel further recommends that advertisements for such remedies not be placed where they can promote or suggest use by children, and if such an advertisement is placed where numbers of children may learn of the "indications for the product, that such advertisement contain clear and specific warnings," it added.

TF City Council lists

Tuesday meet agenda

TWIN FALLS — City Council members in Twin Falls will meet Tuesday night instead of the usual Monday this week because of the Labor Day holiday.

On the agenda are several items including a public hearing at 7 p.m. on public auction lands involved in the Community Development Program. A date will be set for the auction. The council will also consider moving and rehabilitation of one dwelling for the Community Development Program.

Other business on the agenda includes a call for bids on North College Road improvements; consideration of two out-of-city sewer service agreements; hearing comments from the Magic Valley Home Builders; and signing contracts and revising a resolution on airport construction for the current year.

Three city officials will discuss closing offices for half-day Sept. 9 for the county fair and receive comments from residents on proposed improvements in the northwest part of the city.

Aspin scores Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is "an organizational maze dedicated to gross waste and duplication," Rep. Leo Aspin said Saturday.

Aspin, a member of the House Armed Services Committee and Pentagon scourge, released a General Accounting Office survey of Pentagon management, which revealed numerous areas of overmanagement within the armed services.

The Wisconsin Democrat cited instances such as "Under the Army Chief of Staff are 27 separate offices all dealing primarily with personnel matters, while his Navy counterpart has only one such office."

But Aspin said the Navy was as guilty of overmanagement. "There are 23 offices under the chief of naval operations dealing with communications," while the Army chief gets along without a single office dealing chiefly in that area."

Filer Grangers decorate booth for Twin Falls fair

By MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News writer

FILER — New and old members worked on decorations for the Grange booth at the fair during Friday's Filer Grange meeting in the hall.

Bill Hazen, Twin Falls County 4-H agent, was initiated into the Grange as a new member. Al Tjener, fair chairman, reported on progress of the booth and asked members to have all produce at the agriculture building by 1 p.m. Monday. Rev. Otis Hardin and family are in charge of decorations for this year's display which will center around a plaque made by grange members over forty years ago and found packed away in an attic. Rev. Hardin has restored the plaque to its original beauty. Handmade paper chains in autumn colors will carry out the Early American theme of the display.

Helping with this year's display, as they have for many years, were there of the Grange's 50-year members. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett, Geraldine Chasteen and William Lessels, another 50-year member, who were present at the time the picture was taken.

Their vegetable display for the annual fair displays, gathered fruits and helped make sheaves. Mrs. Bennett assisted with the grange flower display for many years. Both have had many offices in the organization, including serving as volunteer janitors.

Members recalled many times when Bennett offered his services to assist neighbors with their harvest in time of illness. The Filer Grange building was purchased years ago from the Catholic Church and remodeled into the hall as it is now. Mrs. Bennett told of a time when she put her sleeping baby son up in the bunting during the meeting and almost forgot to take him home.

Miss Chasteen was the first woman initiated into the Filer Grange. She said at the time she joined, the grange met at the grounds for meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Lau Krepke served refreshments.

Dole confirms Gulf probe queries

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — President Ford's running mate, Robert Dole, confirmed Saturday he was called before a grand jury last February to answer questions about illegal political contributions by Gulf Oil Co.

"I don't know if it was being called as a witness or being investigated," he said, in response to a CBS news report.

He said he volunteered all his records at the request of the special prosecutor's office, but "all they asked for was one little book," he said.

He said he was asked whether he got money from Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., from Gulf. "The answer was no," the Kansas Senator said.

He said he was also asked about a $2,000-plus check from Gulf in 1970 — before he was chairman of the Republican National Committee — made out to someone named "Dole or Dole."

"It was going to someone with that name to transfer to someone else," the Kansas Senator said at an airport news conference before addressing a "GOP fundraiser" in exclusive Newport.

"I don't know if I was investigation," he said. "It was a legal transfer. The question is, as I understand it, whether we're a conduit to pass the money on to someone else." He said he didn't know what connection there might be between the 1970 check stub and the Grand Jury investigation.

The CBS report was broadcast Saturday night on the CBS Evening News which also said that Dole had been questioned by the Watergate Special Prosecutor about what he knows of the secret campaign contributions from the Gulf Oil Co.

The broadcast said that the Kansas Senator also testified on this subject before a special grand jury which is investigating Gulf Oil's role in political campaigns from 1968 to 1973, during part of which time Dole was Republican National Chairman.

The cash in question is a fund which, government documents say — according to the broadcast — a Gulf Oil lobbyist contributed directly to Sen. Scott at a rate of $10,000 a year. In turn, Scott allegedly distributed some of the money to other GOP senators. Eight senators have been queried on the matter besides Dole, and six have publicly admitted getting cash contributions, the CBS broadcast said.

Dole said, in his statement to CBS News, as broadcast: "I was contacted in February of 1976 about alleged Gulf Oil campaign contributions. I cooperated fully and on March 1 I made a brief voluntary appearance before the grand jury. I informed them that I had no personal knowledge of the information being sought. At that time I also volunteered complete campaign records."

Dole told the network he had never received any Gulf contributions through Scott, and — as far as he knows — no contributions from Gulf Oil "at any time."

Henry, Vorster progress in first round of talks

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and South African Premier John Vorster made "progress" in opening talks Saturday night aimed at averting all-out, black-white war in southern Africa, aides said.

Kissinger and Vorster met alone for 90 minutes and conferred an additional 2½ hours with aides present.

"Progress is being made," Vorster's spokesman told reporters after the talks in a Swiss Alpine hotel.

"Some progress was made," said Kissinger's spokesman, Deputy Undersecretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger.

Kissinger hoped to match a successful outcome of his talks with Vorster with similar word from a meeting of African nations and liberation movements beginning in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, Monday.

With a positive response from both sides, he was expected to begin a shuttle diplomacy effort in Africa during the week of Sept. 12 to help achieve a settlement in Rhodesia and the independence of South West Africa.

Eagleburger told reporters Saturday that a one-day delay in the start of the Dar es Salaam meeting — originally scheduled for Sunday — would have no impact on Kissinger's peace plan.

Kissinger and Vorster were meeting privately for an hour-Sunday morning in Kissinger's hotel followed by an informal luncheon with aides present. The secretary and the prime minister were to hold a final meeting Monday.

Earlier Sunday, Kissinger was receiving Gen.

Alexander Haig, the Supreme Allied Commander Europe of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Aides said the talk would concern NATO business exclusively.

Kissinger was hosted by Vorster Saturday at a dinner at the secretary's hotel.

Socialist Workers infiltrated

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

The FBI has 66 informers posing as members of the Socialist Workers party and its youth arm, the Young Socialist Alliance, according to bureau files made public Saturday by the socialists.

The files, obtained by the SWP as part of a $40 million suit against the government, also show that since 1960 the FBI has used 1,600 "freefloating" informers to spy on a wide variety of groups.

SWP officials asked U.S. District Judge Thomas P. Griesa of the Southern District of New York to make FBI Director Clarence Kelley name the informers and to stop using spies against political groups. Kelley has said he will resign rather than reveal the identities of informers.

"The documents released today exposing the FBI's interference in the election campaign represent a flagrant violation of the right of the American people to support the presidential candidate of their choice," said SWP presidential candidate Peter Bergman.

The SWP has admitted that it has sent 66 informers to SWP campaign committees across the country despite the fact that we are a legal political party that has been charged with no group.

Since 1969, according to the files, the FBI has used 316 informers to infiltrate the 2,500-member SWP.

Informants held local or branch office within the SWP and were told to question the loyalty of other party members and provide the FBI with financial records, letters and other material including some that could have been obtained only by theft from party offices, the files showed.

The documents also showed at least one informer — not one of those infiltrated into the SWP or YSA — ran for the U.S. Senate or the House of Representatives while serving as an informant for the FBI.

Carter is convinced the cardinals, archbishops and bishops can significantly influence only a minuscule number of Catholic votes.

"On abortion, all but a few voters — Catholics or not — have made up their minds," said one Carter strategist.

"What the bishops won't affect their opinion," Carter's decision to persist in his opposition to a constitutional amendment outlawing all abortion came even before his meeting last Tuesday with a half dozen of the most powerful members of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. At that confrontation in Washington, he received a tongue-lashing and afterwards modified — ever so slightly. If at all — his previous stand against the amendment sought by the bishops.

The meeting, if anything, strengthened his resolve to stand fast against a sweeping amendment, although he will not go out of his way to antagonize the prelates.

Those who are advising Carter on this issue claim that both the results of past elections and current polls show the former Georgia governor and present Southern bishop demented on solid political ground.

Rubber talks go on

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Representatives of the United Rubber Workers and the B.F. Goodrich Co. were meeting here Saturday in an effort to work out a tentative agreement and end a strike that began April 21.

Goodrich is the only one of the "big four" tire manufacturers that has not reached a settlement with the URW. Unocal came to terms Friday, while Firestone and Goodyear workers have ratified agreements reached last month.

Peter Bonmarie, URW president, arrived Saturday morning for the negotiations at the Pick Fort Hayes Hotel. He said the parties are prepared to "work through the night" if necessary to come to terms.

Redford welcomed

PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — Actor Robert Redford came to visit Jimmy Carter Saturday night and got what Carter said was the biggest reception here since John Glenn made a visit.

Redford arrived after dark in a lighted limo to spend the night at the Carter home. An aide said the men had never met but had spoken by telephone.

The pair wore blue denim, though Carter's was of the work variety. Redford also was wearing a leather jacket and Carter had on a work shirt.

After Carter strayed out of his house to shake hands with Redford, he said, "John Glenn, I guess, was your biggest competitor."

He's ready at age 80

Juneau Shinn just won't quit. Or retire, for that matter.

Most people these days retire at about age 65 and then spend the rest of their time pursuing hobbies and cementing life-long friendships. A few continue working at odd jobs or part-time work just to keep active.

Juneau is a workhorse of another color. He was just getting his second wind at 65 and scarcely thought about retirement. The veteran Twin Falls newsman continued to prepare his six-evening-a-week "Juneau Shinn's Edited Report to the Valley" for another 15 years.

Finally, this year at 80, Juneau retired from the airwaves.

Now, presumably, Juneau would make up for those extra 15 years of work by plunging into the green pastures of retirement?

No. He immediately set out to find a new career and continued public service.

Of all things, he decided to pursue a political career by seeking a seat in the Idaho House of Representatives. We can't prove it, but Juneau probably is the oldest person in Idaho to seek his first legislative term.

It was not the first time he had been encouraged by his friends to run for the legislature. Always in the past he had declined to run, mainly because he was so involved as a news commentator.

But this year's lack of competition in Twin Falls County general election races so angered Juneau that he decided to plunge in just to make it a race.

Be frank, he has little chance of being elected this November. Many voters will hold his age and the fact that he's running on the Independent ticket against him. He also opposes a popular conservative Republican incumbent, T.W. Stivers.

But somehow, Juneau's decision to run is more important than the outcome of the race.

It is the kind of personal act which can't help but cause others to rethink some of their basic assumptions about their lives.

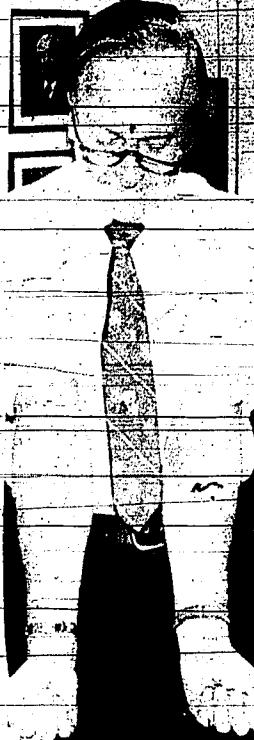

For instance, what is really so sacred about the retirement age of 65. It is convenient for many people who want to pursue other activities with dignity. But it should be viewed as a matter of convenience, not as a prison sentence.

In cases such as that of Juneau Shinn, there is every reason to believe a person 80 years old can offer public service as effectively as a person 30 years his junior.

At the root of that spirit is Juneau's refusal to accept arbitrary social definitions which he doesn't feel fit him personally.

Juneau says it directly: "Age is of no consequence." For good reason, he refuses to define himself as "over the hill."

That's the kind of spirit missing from a lot of people half Juneau Shinn's age.

Here's tourists' prayer

© Los Angeles Times

(Editor's note) Art Buchwald was so disappointed he wished he could as President Ford's running mate that he has decided to take a few weeks off. He left behind most of his all-time favorite columns.

According to The Times of London, the Greek Orthodox Church has just issued a new prayer asking the Lord to protect the Greek people from tourists. The prayer, which is to be said by bishops and priests every morning and every evening goes like this:

"Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on the cities, the islands, and the villages of our Orthodox Fatherland, as well as the holy monasteries which are scattered by the world's tourist traps."

"Grace us with a solution to this dramatic problem and protect our brethren, who are steeped by the modernistic spirit of these contemporary Western invaders."

Now it's only fair if the monks and nuns are beseeching the Lord with anti-tourist prayers, that the tourists get equal-time. So I have written a prayer for tourists which they must recite when they get up in the morning and go to bed at night:

"It goes like this:

"Heavenly Father, look down on us your humble, obedient tourist servants, who are doomed to travel this earth taking photographs, mailing postcards, buying souvenirs and wallowing around in dirndl underwear."

"We beseech you, oh Lord, to see that our plane is not hijacked, our luggage is not lost and our overweight baggage goes unclaimed."

"Protect us from friendly and unscrupulous taxi drivers, avaricious porters and unlicensed English-speaking guides."

"Give us this day divine guidance in the selection of our hotels, that we may find our reservations honored, our rooms made up and hot water running from the faucets if it is at all possible."

"We pray that the telephone works and the operators speak our tongue; and that there is no mail waiting from our children which would Moss says he went into the clinics aprehensive and came out angry.

"I was afraid I'd be recognized," he said,

"and I wasn't going to allow them to draw blood from me with a dirty needle."

"Well, the needles they used were okay each was wrapped separately in a sanitized envelope. And there was no worry about me being recognized. The doctors don't look at their patients at all; they hardly treat them as individuals. I was treated just as a cipher."

Moss' exploit was disclosed last Monday when the Senate Aging subcommittee on long term care issued a report on Medicaid. The report said a quarter of the $15 billion spent on medical care for the poor in the 10 year old program may be wasted when fraud, abuse and overutilization are added up. Storefront Medicaid units are blamed for much of the waste.

Moss said he went into the clinics complaining only of a cold. He said he was given a complete medical examination, blood tests, X-rays, urine tests, a misdiagnosis of a muscle spasm, treatment by a chiropractor, prescriptions and an appointment to return — all for the purpose of running up fees which are paid by the federal and state governments.

A Cabinet meeting Monday, Secretary David Mathews of Health, Education and Welfare accused Moss of "grandstanding." He said policing the Medicaid program was a state responsibility.

Personal checkout

DISGUISED as a workman, Utah Sen. Frank Moss leaves East Harlem Medical Center carrying bag of drugs prescribed for an ailment he faked. The Senate Special Committee on Aging released the photo as it opened hearings into abuses and fraud in the Medicaid program. (UPI)

"Grandstanding," said an aide. "He's been issuing reports for six or eight years on waste in that program, and at HEW they reduced the number of auditors."

"You have no idea how many mental hospital and nursing home corridors that man has walked," said another Senate staffer.

"He's just the type of guy who likes to tickles," said Mary Jane Due, his administration assistant. "When he became chairman of the Senate Space Committee, he hadn't even been a member of the committee, and the first thing he did was to go around inspecting everything."

Moss, a senator since 1959, has twice been re-elected from conservative Utah despite a liberal voting record. The new state of publicity will no doubt help him in November, especially since it casts him in the role of a critic of waste and of a welfare program.

In 1958, according to Moss, an emissary from the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee offered him a $10,000 contribution from the oil industry if he would vote against repealing the oil depletion allowance. Moss rejected it did not know how he would vote on that issue.

The emissary was so stunned he told a wealthy liberal in New York of Moss' position and the liberal wrote out a $10,000 check, no strings attached.

Moss is a lawyer and former judge and prosecutor and the son of a well known Utah educator. He is known as a hard worker who keeps working until he wins. He's been trying to push no fault auto insurance through Congress.

A leading advocate of consumer legislation, he was the key figure in enacting a health warning on cigarettes and in banning cigarette advertising from radio and television — a crusade that locked him in combat with the tobacco and broadcasting industries but did no harm in his largely Mormon constituency.

New laws for commercial space exploitation need

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The activities of America's Viking lander on Mars, and other craft exploring the solar system are governed by international law on earth. But a legal expert says new laws are needed for commercial exploitation in space.

The reason, said Dr. Carl Christol, professor of international law and chairman of the department of political science at the University of Southern California, is "the possibility of natural resources 'so vast and special it will be worth while exploiting them."

"At that point," he said in an interview, "a new legal regime will be needed to permit those craft with the ability to hold these resources for their own uses."

Current space exploration and scientific investigation is guided by a 1967 international law treaty to which the United States, Russia and nearly 90 other countries are parties.

Christol said the acquisition of physical properties of another planet are permissible under the accord.

But he added, "The treaty says no nation can exercise or obtain sovereignty in the space environment."

"That would mean we could not stake out physical occupancy. If there is a newly formed island in the ocean, one could go out and put a government on it, but not legally," he said.

"It's like the old-law of the oceans," he said.

"Anybody has the right to fish the high seas and some will catch some fish and some won't. One will catch the fish but others will have the right to fish the same area."

"We have no idea of the kind of volume of materials in outer space," he said. "But it might be like the commercial exploitation of sea resources."

"The government of Argentina, in 1970, proposed a treaty to deal with moon resources," Christol said. "In 1971, the Russians made a proposal which sort of negated the Argentinian suggestion."

"Out of the whole thing, came a discussion which hasn't been much on the back burner."

"The field is attracting more and more attention and the U.S. said 'why limit it to the moon, let's make it equitable to all celestial bodies.'

"We knew what we would be doing on Mars and wanted to have a more comprehensive approach to exploitation of resources."

The House Committee on Science and Technology recently held hearings on space law at which Christol testified.

"I told them, simply, a perspective over a period of time is that resources of value will be found and exploited in the space environment and we better be getting a legal regime to deal with that."

"There is no limitation upon the right to be there as long as it's for peaceful purposes," Christol said.

"And...if perchance we skip an historic monument to take a nap after lunch, have mercy on us, for flesh is weak."

(This part of the prayer is for husbands.)

"Dear God, keep our wives from shopping sprees and protect them from haggards they don't need or can't afford. Lead them not into temptation for they know not what they do."

(This part of the prayer is for wives.)

"Almighty God, keep our husbands from looking at foreign women and comparing them to us."

"Save them from making fools of themselves in cafés and nightclubs. Above all, please do not forgive them their trespasses for they know exactly what they do."

(Together)

"And when our voyage is over, and we return to our loved ones, grant us the favor of finding someone who will look at our home movies and listen to our stories so our lives as tourists will not have been in vain. This we ask You in the name of Conrad Hilton, Thomas Cook and the American Express. Amen."

The short, sad tale of Spudka

PORLTND — Sitting in a wooden display case on the fourth floor of the Market Building in downtown Portland is one of the world's rarest bottles of vodka.

No one of the world's greatest vodkas mind you, just one of the rarest. Idahoans with exceptional minds for trivia will remember the pink, gold, and black label of this most famous drink.

If the label doesn't ring a bell how about the name Spudka, remember?

For two short months in the spring of 1963 Idaho liquor stores sold the only potato vodka ever commercially produced in this state or anywhere else in the country.

A total of 200 individual bottles of refined potato mash went down the throats — or the drains — of those hard drinkers of a decade ago.

The saga of Spudka isn't a tale with a happy ending.

No, the story is a classic yarn of a slick-talking band-of-promoters milking an unwary, rural public of tens of thousands of dollars.

The only proverb fitting this story is the one about a fool and his money are soon parted. Or, maybe the old warning that you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

In the summer of 1962, the short, sad tale of Spudka began.

With the style of a master slyster the president of a company called Rocky Mountain Chemical announced the birth of Spudka vodka.

L. M. Butler, a Salt Lake City promoter with the bad habit of periodically selling thousands of shares of worthless uranium stocks, hatched the Spudka egg in the offices of the Hood River Distillers in Portland.

George Haisley, President of Hood River Distillers remembers the morning he first met L. M. Butler and when Hood River first tasted the potato spirit. Butler claimed were distilled in Rocky Mountain Chemical's Rupert plant.

The first batch of potato mash turned out well.

The vodka, carrying a slightly yellow tinge and smelling a bit like overcooked scalloped potatoes, tasted pretty good.

Not a great vodka, but a drinkable one.

By February 1963, Hood River Distillers managed to bottle 600 cases of Spudka.

News releases announcing the birth of a novel new liquor went out to every newspaper from San Francisco to New York.

Rocky Mountain Chemical outlined the miraculous process which transformed the by-products from packaged french fries into good-tasting potato spirits.

Top quality vodka flowed like water from vats filled with rotten, waste potatoes, the company proclaimed.

Details of how the plant worked that trick remained foggy.

But Rocky Mountain Chemical's President Butler stoutly maintained the Spudka distillery had found a way to utilize the potato skins and pulp potatoes to produce 190 proof potato spirits.

Their motto might have been: "Spudka! The vodka made from rotten potatoes!"

Spudka's greatest appeal might, well, have been with the Emperor who bought all those new clothes.

And the news media, that always gullible band of drunkards, swallowed the story of Spudka right down to the cork.

All over Idaho the massive publicity given the state's newest industry drew hundreds of investors into the Rocky Mountain Chemical Corporation portfolio.

Between 1961 and 1964 more than 300 Idahoans plunked down their savings to buy stock in the company that promised to turn bad potatoes into good vodka.

But Spudka never turned any Idahoans into millionaires just suckers.

One of these luckless investors was Declo farmer Floyd West.

Floyd helped drum up financial backing for Spudka in Minidoka and Cassia counties.

Today, he painfully remembers personally urging dozens of elderly couples to sink their life savings into Rocky Mountain Chemical's distillery.

Their own engineers came to Idaho to try to reproduce the original high quality potato spirits which went into the first 600 cases of Spudka.

They couldn't do it.

After pouring what George Haisley called "tens of thousands of dollars" into the Spudka distillery, the truth was out.

The entire first batch of quality potato spirits produced at the Rupert plant must have been a fluke—or a fate.

After just two months on the market, Spudka was no more.

Shortly afterward the entire Rocky Mountain Chemical Corporation fell into bankruptcy and the top executives disappeared in Argentina.

Back in Rupert, Floyd West and others tried to recoup the losses incurred by all those who invested in the scheme.

The Spudka plant sold for $50,000.

When the Canadian buyers came to inspect the machinery they laughed and swore.

They said the entire plant was put together backwards and never could have produced a single bottle of Spudka spirits.

Only three bottles of Spudka are left now, all three owned by the Hood River Distillery.

One of these bottles sits in George Haisley's office on the fourth floor of the Market Building in downtown Portland.

Hood River Distillers recovered from the financial losses suffered in the Spudka plant and now the company earns a tidy profit selling other low-priced vodka throughout the Northwest.

George Haisley still holds the patents on Spudka. He sells off one bottle of the yellow, aromatic liquor every 10 years to retain the rights to the name.

In the file of the company's main office rest a few dozen Spudka labels, pink and gold reminders of what now has become one of the rarest liquors on Earth.

Haisley thinks today Spudka might be a big success. Last year vodka was the biggest selling liquor in the U.S.

Even in 1963, Haisley said Spudka was going to be the "Cinderella" liquor of the Hood River plant.

Instead, Idaho's potato vodka turned into a Rumpelstiltskin.

It because it smelled too bad.

Through all of this, the sale of Rocky Mountain Chemical stock continued.

The company sent out a letter to stockholders asking for money to fix up some small problems at the Rupert plant.

Stockholders had been astonished to learn the definition of "small problems."

Back in "Portland," Hood River Distillers realized something was wrong. Even after repeated letters and telephone calls, the Spudka engineers in Rupert couldn't produce a single drop of potato spirits suitable for processing into vodka.

Hood River negotiated the purchase of the Rupert distillery from Rocky Mountain Chemical.

Their own engineers came to Idaho to try to reproduce the original high quality potato spirits which went into the first 600 cases of Spudka.

They couldn't do it.

Pioneer foe speaks out

Editor, Times-News:

Once again the people of Idaho should become aware of what's happening in regards to the coal-fired Pioneer Project.

During the last Pioneer hearing at the Public Utilities Commission with Idaho Power, it was proposed by Idaho Power that a "compromise" be made.

In November 74, the company claimed they needed a 2,000 megawatt coal burner on the line by the mid 1980s.

Now they are saying they can get by with us, we assume, less than 500 megawatts by 1983. It now appears that Idaho Power wants the Idaho Public Utilities Commission to issue a certificate authorizing additional generating facilities and reserve the question of site.

A vague proposal for a coal-fired plant of unspecified size somewhere besides Orchard is not an alternative as posed by Idaho Power.

We do not need a smaller coal-fired plant (which later, without your or my permission) could expand to fit their discretion. Pioneer should be denied in its entirety. People have voted against it. Thousands of petitions have been sent to the IPEC. We do not want any coal-fired plant, period. This has been shown by the people of Idaho themselves.

There is power available through other sources, and if Idaho Power will not try to get Idaho's fair share of this power, then the state government should.

In 1975, Idaho through both direct customers of BPA and private utility purchases, used only about a half of the federal electricity generated.

From more than 500 megawatts of BPA capacity in Idaho, and more government generators are under construction or planned. We have donated our Salmon runs in this state to the federal government. If we need more electricity, it is time South Idaho irrigation pumpers get this cheap power instead of the new Aluvius Aluminum plant and new transmission lines which will run Southern California air conditioners.

We do not want Pioneer in any way.

Imports biggest farm problem

Editor, Times-News:

I heard Wednesday morning that Senator McClure was to conduct a nationwide "call-in" program for farmers that day. I didn't understand that our only problem was "preservation of productive agricultural farmland." I thought the "call-in" was for any farm problem. After calling I learned there was only one problem they wanted to discuss.

To me and after reading farm publications, listening to farm markets and reports on television and radio, I think others agree with me, that one of our biggest problems is imports.

The beef industry is hurt because of imports; the price of lamb is down almost 30 per cent because of imports; the price of sugar is down because of imports. (Even here in Magic Valley, the food stores are featuring other brands of sugar besides White Satin.)

The farmers can produce the crops and want to but we do deserve a fair price. As it is, every time our prices start to go up, consumers start screaming about the "high cost" of food and we start importing.

The heading on your editorial Wednesday was the "eroding of farmlands" — a quiet threat. It makes sense to us that we keep our farmlands for agriculture and keep on producing crops even though we do it at a loss but would it make just as much sense for me to suggest that you continue to publish the Times-News and deliver it to every family in Magic Valley at no cost to them? To me there is a parallel between the two ideas.

Laetrile backer seeks help

Editor, Times-News:

On July 26th the appeal was heard by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Santa Fe, New Mexico from the Federal District Court in Oklahoma City, where Judge Luther Bohanon had ordered the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to release laetrile or Vitamin B17 to cancer patients.

Judge Bohanon stated: "There is no proof that laetrile is harmful, and it would be out and out cruelty to deny to anyone suffering from this terrible disease of cancer. They should have everything they want that is not harmful."

Jerry Henderson from the FDA told the Court of Appeals: "We have the deepest sympathy for cancer victims — we regret Judge Bohanon's ruling because it may cause some patients to skip recognized drugs and go directly to laetrile."

What he should have told the court is the facts about these recognized drugs — that 2 out of 3 cancer victims still die — 1,000 daily.

After this kind of record how can the FDA have the nerve to condemn non-toxic laetrile which has saved thousands of cancer victims? The FDA uses the excuse it hasn't been tested yet — authorities refused the application of the McNaugthon foundation of San Diego to make these tests.

The court was also told that the drug (B17) has been around for 25 years and "that Mexico spends thousands of dollars on propaganda and hadn't proven a thing." This spokesman knows very well that thousands of American patients have crossed the border into Mexico and have had their lives saved.

He also knows that world famous cancer specialists as Drs. Hans Nieper of Hanover, West Germany, who pioneered in cobalt, has now turned to laetrile or B17.

Where has the American Cancer Society (ACS) been all these 25 years after the government gave billions of our tax dollars in good faith for research?

There is a great movement by the public for legalizing laetrile. The ACS do not see the handwriting on the wall as it testifies before a Senate subcommittee: the end of "cancer" is near.

This is what pro-laetrile doctors have been saying for years, but what they didn't tell the committee. Is that pro-laetrile doctors also say, with enough B17 in their diet, that it can prevent and control cancer. B17 is found in 120 fruits and plants.

Write your representative in Congress to support Idaho Rep. Steve Symms' bill H.R. 12573. It repeals some of the laws that the FDA now use as an excuse to keep lifesaving laetrile away from dying cancer patients.

Tragic mishap claims his pet

Editor, Times-News:

It is with great regret that I have read the newspaper accounts regarding the dismemberment of the Wood River football team this year.

In the recent years, Wood River High School has fallen victim to the apathy which has crept into the student body of a once proud school.

As a former graduate of Hailey High School, I remember exciting hours . . . cheering heartily for the Wolverines . . . freezing under a cloudy sky at a football game . . . being crushed in a crowded gym for basketball . . . watching a skier whiz by . . . for all the thrill of sports and loyalty to Hailey High School.

What has happened to that united spirit . . . school spirit?

With a minimum of effort, attention, and attendance it is possible for a young person to "get by" to the point that a diploma is issued. Is this then, the moment Wood River High School has reached? The fruits of your efforts do not appear on the diploma . . . what did you contribute to a united spirit . . . school spirit?

Where is that boundless spirit to win . . . not only in sports but in life?

I sincerely hope that the time will come when once again the students and parents in Wood River Valley can look forward to football season and all events of their school with a sense of pride and loyalty.

Prayer for today

You must think work is important, God, or you never would have said, "Six days thou shall labor and do thy work."

It must be, too, that you don't expect anyone to be exempt when it comes to working, because you also said, "He who won't work shan't eat."

Sometimes we feel we're overworked, but most of us don't need to worry about that. If we are suitably employed in a job which fits our abilities, we should find work enjoyable. Too much leisure and boredom can cause more harm than hard work.

Help us, then, to accept our work as an important and fulfilling part of life.

Uletta Martin, Buhl.

Rights threats growing

Editor, Times-News:

The situation in our Twin Falls city and county law-enforcement agencies is quick turning into a series of unconscionable pros and cons.

I made the unfortunate mistake of leisurely typing a soft-peddling complimentary letter toward the sheriff's office a while back. I thought, and still think, that we had a good bunch of people down there. I have never got so much back-rap over anything in my life.

I was simply driving out North Blue Lakes the other evening on the left hand lane, slowed down to let a speeding vehicle pass me on the right, then turned onto the right lane — Wham!!

Here he comes in all his flashing glory. I thought he was going to arrest the speeding vehicle. But City Patrolman Phillips had me in mind. For reckless driving. No. Failure to yield. No. Decided he'd better check my registration. Well, I had got the car the day before and didn't have the plates transferred to my car —

Devil gains day in court appeal

DENVER (UPI) — The devil will have a day in court under a ruling by the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court ruled Friday that the federal court in Wyoming must hold a full-scale hearing on whether Satanism was a religion and whether inmates at the state prison have a constitutional right to participate in rituals.

In a $120,000 suit filed against three Wyoming State Penitentiary officials, three inmates said the authorities denied them their constitutional right to worship under the First Amendment.

Inmate Robert Collingswood alleged that guards refused him the right to possess ritual items, including candles, holy water and incense, and took his ritual rattling stick and a satanic amulet from his cell.

According to inmate Richard Reeder, he was deprived of a lucrative job in the prison's license plate plant in retaliation for his religious beliefs. The third plaintiff, Weldon Kennedy, said he was ordered to frame a holy picture.

In an Oct. 10, 1974 decision, Wyoming U.S. District Judge Ewing Kerr said the restrictions were not capricious or arbitrary when considering the extensive atmosphere of a prison.

The Appeals Court said although prison confinement may limit the extent to which any religion was practiced, the inmates' constitutional claim must be heard.

Curb service fast

AURORA, Colo. (UPI) — A 17-year-old girl, forced at knifepoint to drive an abductor to an unknown destination, instead drove her car over a curb and into a crowded firehouse. Firemen turned the suspect over to police.

Patrolman Steve Harlan said Daniel Allen Nielsen, 24, was jailed Thursday on suspicion of kidnapping and assault.

The unidentified girl told police a man approached her at a downtown Denver department store and forced her into her car. Seeing firemen outside the Denver firehouse, the girl drove over the curb into the station. Harlan said the man jumped from the back seat and was nabbed by two firemen.

The girl was not injured.

Affair described

A LOVE affair with J. Edgar Hoover is described in the book, "FBI Woman," written by blonde Fowler, 68, Jacksonville, Fla. She says she worked nine years as an FBI file clerk and code breaker and became upset about rumors of Hoover's homosexuality. (UPI)

Railroad acquires old steam engine

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — L&N steam locomotive No. 152 — which pulled Teddy Roosevelt's Bull Moose campaign train on a whistle stop to Ohio and carried Al Capone to Alcatraz — is going back in service.

Engine No. 152, retired since 1951, is owned by the Kentucky Railway Museum in Louisville and is listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

It will be restored through matching grants from the National Park Service and the Kentucky Heritage Commission.

The locomotive has a unique history. Built in 1905, it provided locomotive power for Teddy Roosevelt's campaign train between Louisville and Cincinnati in 1912, during his unsuccessful try for President on the Bull Moose Party label.

The train also transported Al Capone to Alcatraz Prison. However, when diesel engines came into use, Engine No. 152 and others like it were demoted to freight service.

Engine No. 152 was retired from active service and stored at Mobile-Ala. In 1953 all other steam locomotives were scrapped and Wilson said it is not known why then L&N President John E. Tilford decided not to scrap the one remaining engine.

The railway museum later bought the locomotive from the railroad.

She knew the touch

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Mrs. James Getty knew the man in the driver's seat of their camper wasn't her husband. He was sleeping beside her.

Mrs. Getty screamed. Her husband jumped up, peered through a window into the cab, and found a stranger looking back.

The thief, who apparently had not checked the sleeping section, slammed on the brakes, jumped to the pavement and ran off.

Mrs. Getty said she was awakened by the vehicle's motion and at first thought her husband had gotten up for an early start.

Next time, the cabin

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — The thieves who broke into George Henckel's four-room mountain cabin weren't satisfied with stealing everything inside.

Henckel told Jefferson County sheriff's officers he found the cabin not only stripped of all its possessions, but also broken up and placed on blocks. He said the窃贼 apparently planned to come back and take the building.

More women cadets leave West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Two more of West Point's pioneer female cadets left over the weekend — dropping female enrollment to 100 and raising the attrition rate to 16 percent.

At the start of training July 7, there were 119 women.

Gay Gray and Gertrude B. Huffman trudged through the gates of the U.S. Military Academy late Friday, motored to New York City and, according to reports, spent the night in an apartment with acquaintances.

Huffman of Exeter, Calif., and valedictorian of her high school class, was clad in a T-shirt and pants and carried a satchel and a suitcase. She wore a cloche — something she hasn't been able to do for weeks.

Gray of Dallas wore a knee-length skirt and a top bright with diagonal stripes. Her sandals were a big change from the combat boots.

The attrition rate for females at West Point now is more than 10 percent higher than that for the men, 9.5 percent.

At the other service academies, also admitting women for the first time this year as mandated by Congress, the dropout rate is lower — averaging about five to seven percent.

At the Air Force Academy it is below that of the men — three percent attrition rate.

Last Tuesday, Gray and Huffman told United Press International they would leave as soon as possible after the end of beast barracks — to get basic training.

They were interviewed during overnight field exercises at Lake Frederick.

Like other women who have left, they bristled over harassment from male cadets who complain the training has been eased for the benefit of women.

Gray said she spent a week in the hospital with an ulcer she didn't have when she entered the academy. She blamed tension.

Phones go dead

in rate protest

HICKORY CORNERS, Mich. (UPI) — Bea Zimmerman wrapped the cord around her dead telephone and tucked it away in a drawer.

"It just gets in the way now," she said, closing the drawer. "But that's where it will stay until the rates come down."

Bea and her husband, George, are among more than 100 customers of the Hickory Telephone Company whose phones were shut off this week for refusing to pay a $16.35 monthly bill, the highest phone rate in Michigan.

A spokesman for Telephone Data Systems, Inc., a Chicago-based telecommunications company, said the rate increase they have been fighting since last November.

"I live most of my life without a telephone, and I'm ready to do it again," Zimmerman said. "I don't need a telephone to survive, and I surely don't need those rates."

John Regis, whose wife is an officer of the organized protest group, said it's been "rather peaceful" around his house since the phone went dead last Wednesday.

"It's kind of nice, really, not having wrong numbers waking you in the middle of the night," Regis said.

The protesters admit having no phones could be a handicap in an emergency. But they are quick to add that few emergencies occur in a town that size.

"We have a volunteer fire department," Regis said. "Even under normal conditions, if you called them on the telephone, by the time they would arrive your house would be gone."

Carter, Mondale all set to hit road; Ford works

By United Press International
Jimmy Carter opens his official campaign battle against President Ford Monday in Warm Springs, Ga., but Ford is shunning the tradition of a Labor Day campaign kickoff.

A spokesman said Saturday the Georgia Democrat and his running mate from Minnesota, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, will carry the issues of jobs for Americans and faulty Republican leadership to 17 states during their first week on the road.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said Carter's campaign will hit 37 states before election day, with appearances in 107 cities selected with the aid of a computerized political profile of the nation.

"We see the central issue to be discussed in this first week of campaigning as who has the ability and the determination to lead this nation of almost a decade of bureaucratic waste and economic mismanagement and moral decay," Powell told reporters at Carter's Plains, Ga., headquarters.

At the White House, a spokesman said Ford would drop that approach in favor of wide crosscountry visits.

Despite his low political profile, Ford could not help Saturday but relish aloud before reporters Carter's statement Friday that he might have to delay "costly" welfare and health care programs to achieve a balanced budget in 1980.

Informed sources said GOP vice presidential candidate Robert A. Dole soon will make public his financial and tax records for several years, an action Ford had promised his running mate would take.

Dole's wife, Elizabeth, announced Saturday she was taking a leave of absence during the campaign from her post on the Federal Trade Commission to avoid a possible conflict of interest. Mrs. Dole was born in North Carolina and her Kansas husband refers to her as "my southern strategy."

Ford planned to stress his

Mystery illness not an epidemic

© N.Y. Times Service

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Federal epidemiologists, issuing their first comprehensive report Friday on a mysterious disease that has killed 20 people in Pennsylvania, said that a survey of guests in four Philadelphia hotels shows "no evidence of a continuing epidemic."

The epidemiologists said they could find no unusual distribution pattern of the rooms where the 29 fatal and 115 non-fatal cases stayed during the state American Legion convention in Philadelphia in late July or at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel between July 1 and Aug. 18.

The 29th victim of the epidemic, J. Bruce Rogers, 60, of Morestown, N.J., died Friday in Mount Holly, N.J. Rogers was the manager of the Holiday Inn Hotel in Philadelphia. He had eaten at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel on at least three occasions during the above period.

The report, issued in Atlanta by the Center for Disease Control and released simultaneously here by the Pennsylvania State Health Department, was based on tests and studies completed as of Aug. 31.

The center's scientists reported negative results from hundreds of tests for bacteria, viral, fungal, toxic and other possible causes of the mysterious disease.

The epidemiologists cited statistical documentation that the death rates were higher among the 68 individuals who had pre-existing illness, such as heart or lung disorders, diabetes mellitus or cancer than among victims who did not have such chronic diseases. According to an epidemiological measurement, "the case fatality ratio was 29 per cent for those with pre-existing illness and 5 per cent for those without."

FBI probe spreads

© N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON—Justice Department investigators have begun searching files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in at least six major cities in a major effort to expand their probe of illegal bureau practices beyond the New York City area, according to sources close to the case.

One FBI source said that, among other things, the investigators were likely to find evidence that federal agents had used illegal techniques, including burglaries, in their investigation of the Black Panther Party in the San Francisco area in recent years.

Although Justice Department lawyers have obtained what one of them said were numerous unconfirmed reports that such techniques had been in relatively common use by FBI intelligence agents around the country, they have thus far found no conclusive evidence of burglaries beyond those that took place in New York between 1971 and 1974.

Those break-ins were directed against associates of the fugitive members of the Weather Underground organization and carried out in hopes of unearthing clues to the fugitives' whereabouts.

About 30 past and present FBI agents who were members of a special New York squad assigned to track down the fugitives are currently subjects of a criminal grand jury investigation that has generated evidence of burglaries, mail thefts and illegal wiretaps they allegedly used in their investigation.

Japan trade booms with united Viets

TOKYO (UPI) — Little more than a year after the last helicopter fled the roof of the U.S. embassy in Saigon, Japan is having a trade boomlet with a Vietnam united under socialist rule.

A steady stream of Japanese ships calls at Halong harbor — once blocked by U.S. Navy mines — to pick up coal from Vietnam's rich Hong Gal pits.

On the way home, the coal carriers pass other Japanese ships. They are headed for Vietnam with trucks, bulldozers and farm implements in their holds.

Indeed the Japan-Vietnam trade association says the two-way flow of goods between the two countries this year could reach $200 million.

That would be more than triple the $68.6 million worth of business they did in 1975. (The figure includes Japan's trade with North Vietnam for all of 1975, and with South Vietnam after the fall of Saigon.)

Japan gave America diplomatic and economic support during the Indochina war, but she has been quick and flexible about coming to terms with the North Vietnamese.

During the war, the late Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato ordered his country's ships to stay out of North Vietnamese ports. Damaged American tanks were repaired in Japan, and shipped back to the Indochina battlefields. When left-wing demonstrators protested, Japanese riot police kept the tanks moving to Saigonbound ships.

Six months after the fall of Saigon — now the Chi Minh City — Japan gave Hanoi the diplomatic recognition it had refused all through the French and American phases of the Indochina War.

She also granted a $16.6 million non-repayable foreign aid credit to be used for purchases of Japanese goods. Early this year a Japanese embassy opened in the Vietnamese capital.

Missions of Japanese businessmen now are a regular sight in Hanoi.

Sanyo Electric Co. sends a team soon to help rehabilitate a radio and television factory it built in Saigon when South Vietnam still was under the rule of former President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Nippon Koei Co. and Mitsubishi Electric have agreed to repair a damaged hydroelectric power plant near Ho Chi Minh City at a cost of $300,000. Nihon Koei will do the work for the old American-backed regime.

A blue ribbon panel of 15 company executives will meet with questions like insurance payments, and the commercial laws of the two countries. It includes representatives of three big Japanese banks, Mitsui, Sanwa and Bank of Tokyo.

A two-way trade of $200 million still is chickenfeed for a country like Japan, whose foreign trade now runs at around $120 billion a year.

The Japanese are optimistic about the future. They say Vietnam's two goals at the moment are to grow its own food, and lay the groundwork for industrialization in the future.

Japanese economists guess the food battle will be won, and that Vietnam will be exporting grain in the future. They are offering Vietnam aid to boost its harvest of American corn. Japan hopes to be buying some of it in the future.

High grade minkfurs from the Hong Gai mines now account for more than half of Japan's imports from Vietnam. Frozen shrimp from around Saigon are the second largest item.

"At present Vietnam has deep economic contacts with the Soviet Union, China and East Europe," says Tokyo's Asahi newspaper.

"However it is not involved in the Sino-Soviet confrontation. If Vietnam sticks to its line of independence, it could draw closer to Europe and the United States, accepting even technical cooperation and investment."

Six months after the fall of Saigon — now the Chi Minh City — Japan gave Hanoi the diplomatic recognition it had refused all through the French and American phases of the Indochina War.

She also granted a $16.6 million non-repayable foreign aid credit to be used for purchases of Japanese goods. Early this year a Japanese embassy opened in the Vietnamese capital.

Missions of Japanese businessmen now are a regular sight in Hanoi.

GEORGE L. ELLIOTT, Nampa district manager, has been appointed southern Idaho division manager for the Idaho Power Co. He will succeed Earl Haraldson in the position. Haraldson retires after 41 years with the firm Oct. 1.

Manager

GEORGE L. ELLIOTT, Nampa district manager, has been appointed southern Idaho division manager for the Idaho Power Co. He will succeed Earl Haraldson in the position. Haraldson retires after 41 years with the firm Oct. 1.

University of Denver Law School Dean Robert Vegge believes otherwise, saying some graduates tend to care "too picky" about the job they want.

"There is the perception," he said, "that law-finding-is-working-for-a-large-firm-making $100,000 per year and there is nothing else for a lawyer to do."

"That is a folk notion. The jobs are there, but not in that conventional sense," Vegge said.

Although there are not enough "traditional" positions for graduates of the nation's law schools, Vegge said opportunities are abundant in business, industry, government, education and communications.

Legal training has always been an advantage, Vegge said, but as society has become more complex and all enterprises governed by more laws, the need for attorneys has increased.

"I have a theory that the law degree is the equivalent of a bachelors' degree at the turn of the century. Law is such a part of today's world that legal training is an introduction into almost anything."

Vegge and Denver Law School placed most of its 125-member graduating class in government-related positions, with fewer entering traditional practice. Graduates have been hired by school districts, the Federal Trade Commission, oil companies, Department of the Interior, numerous major manufacturing firms and a whole range of private concerns, he said.

In addition, graduates also are working in community legal projects, legal aid and other areas that either did not exist 25 years ago or could not afford a lawyer.

There was a time when only business and the rich could hire lawyers, Vegge said, but that has passed with middle-income persons retaining attorneys more frequently and legal aid offices providing services for the poor.

All of these things take more lawyers. Of course, you will never make that $100,000 per year, and some law students don't want it. Most of the lawyers that are lending bar are too picky and have limited their own possibilities.

Vegge also rejected charges that an increase in the number of lawyers has led to more personal damage suits, including malpractice.

"I see the increased number of such suits as good. If a person has been wronged by a physician, he has the right to redress. If there are more people able to get their right redress, they hurry for more lawyers."

More legal actions are filed as the result of legal aid and community legal services, he said, while the number of consumer rights and sex discrimination cases also has increased.

"These areas didn't really exist 10 or 15 years ago and they have the legal profession dealing with non-legal, non-pecuniary clients," he said. "I see such suits as a positive and necessary force for change in our society."

Lawyers rallied to fight highs, holding 71 to 10-cent gains. Metal ended 2.50 to 4.20 higher and 16.30 cents down.

New York Sugar fell 11 cent at the close, ending about 3 cent down. The world spot price was off 15 cent to 5 cents a pound, with the domestic spot price down 1 cent at 3.3 cents a pound.

New York Silver traded in light volume of 6,500 lbs., closing 29 to 350 points lower than the day's lows.

New York Gold gained 26 to 29 points on a heavy trade of 2,063 contracts as sharply higher tundu bullion prices forced some short covering.

Construction is expected to take two years.

POCATELLO (UPI) — Union Pacific Railroad plans to begin construction later this month on a new, $6.6 million semi-automated freight car wheel repair shop at its railyards in Pocatello.

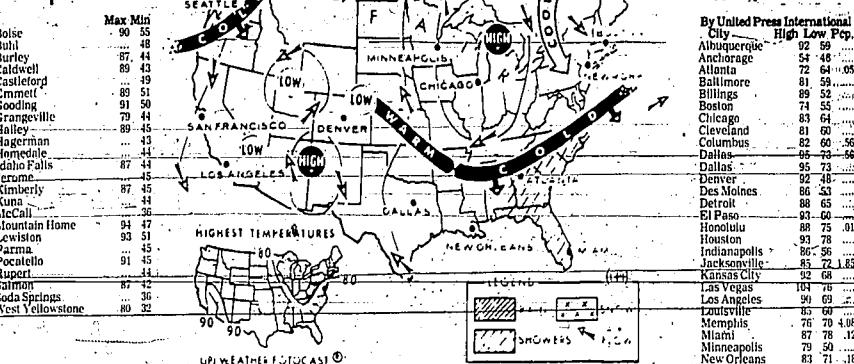

The shop will be controlled and monitored by employees of individual contract input counselors as the shop's machinery automatically performs wheel and axle conditioning work necessary to turn out rebuilt freight car wheels.

Construction is expected to take two years.

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert and Mountain Home areas:

Generally fair weather through the Labor Day weekend. A chance of a thunder shower Monday, especially along the southern mountains. Chance of isolated thunder showers continuing into Wednesday, clearing by Thursday. Temperatures will be generally in the 80's and 90's.

"At present Vietnam has deep economic contacts with the Soviet Union, China and East Europe," says Tokyo's Asahi newspaper.

"However it is not involved in the Sino-Soviet confrontation. If Vietnam sticks to its line of independence, it could draw closer to Europe and the United States, accepting even technical cooperation and investment."

Generally "dry into" the middle of the week. Little temperature change. Highs will range from 75 to 85 and lows 40 to 65.

Synopsis:

Fair weather has covered Idaho for the most part during the past week. A blocking pressure pattern and the location of the jet stream in southern Canada has kept frontal systems and precipitation well to the north of Idaho.

At the same time, blocking patterns aloft have not permitted moisture to flow northward from Arizona into this area. Saturday, however, some moisture moved north as far as Nevada and Utah. This is for the most part expected to be blocked by the Owyhees and the southern Sawtooths. Some may penetrate but it should still remain dry in most localities.

Extreme temperatures for Saturday reached 101 in Winnemucca and 97 in Portland, Ore. In Idaho, Mountain Home had 94 while Stanley had a low of 26. This compared with a low of 57 at Lewiston.

Butz lack of policies brings rap

GENE BECKER, Hutchinson, Kan., has joined the staff of White Mortuary in Twin Falls. A graduate of the University of Kansas, Becker has been in funeral service both in Kansas and Colorado before coming to Idaho. He and his wife, Emma, and their two sons make their home at 478 Robbins.

According to Stenel, prices on major farm commodities in the western region have dropped 25 percent from last year because of Butz' spotty farm legislation.

He said costs for farmers have risen while they are receiving less for their products. He said soft wheat purchases have not alleviated the problem.

"He's (Butz) been lucky on foreign sales but this year, I predict his short-sighted economic gambles with farmers' money and livelihood will knock him out of office," said Stenel.

He said a decent export plan or a reserve plan was needed to protect the market and farmers in addition to policy supports for major crops like rice, peanuts, sugar and pinto beans.

"We've got a protected, strategic reserve, insulated from the market but available for emergencies," Stenel said. "Butz won't do it. President Ford should instruct him to do it or share the blame."

Crime agency on trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has voted to put the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration on trial; it has another year to show it can do something about crime by spending federal dollars.

The House voted 231 to 8 Thursday to authorize one more year of life and $1.1 billion for the controversial agency that started in 1968 and has spent more than $4 billion since.

The sponsoring Judiciary Committee report on the bill said: "The committee has found no evidence that the program will help to reduce crime or isolated specific programs that reveal why the crime rate increases and provide guidance on what to do to reduce it."

The report added: "Extending this program for one year gives notice to LEAA that it is still in status."

Similar legislation has passed the Senate. If the Senate does not accept the House changes, the bill goes to a conference committee.

The House bill would:

- Continue the federal grant program to LEAA, to help local law enforcement agencies fight crime.

— Create an Office of Community Anti-Crime Programs, to help communities design programs that could apply for LEAA money.

— Require that at least one-third of the discretionary money must go for improving the court system.

— Encourage programs to prevent crime against the elderly, described as the most vulnerable and hardest-hit segment of the population.

The Judiciary Committee said LEAA has had many problems. It tried two projects on a national scale to fight crime. The first, the Pilot Cities Program, cost $30 million in eight test cities for crime-fighting innovations. That collapsed in early 1975. The second, the Impact Cities Program, started in 1972, and had some of the same problems—inadequate planning and little to show for it, the committee said.

"The Crime Control Act that created the LEAA has been found to be basically sound in concept but not always in execution," the Judiciary report said.

Schweiker would do it again

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., who may have put his career on the line to be Ronald Reagan's running mate in a liberal-conservative alliance that failed, said Thursday he had no regrets and would do it all again.

"I looked back on what I did and why I did it," Schweiker said in a telephone interview from Washington. "I'd make the same decision again today. The only way we're going to survive is to bridge the gap in our party."

Schweiker, whose decision to run with Reagan shocked liberals and conservatives alike, said he met with President Ford Thursday and promised his full support for the November campaign.

"I repeated my earlier pledge of support for the President and discussed campaign strategy and debates with the President," Schweiker said. "I am going to work for the Ford-Dole ticket," he said. "I won't do it."

Schweiker said he joined the Reagan camp because he wanted to bring the liberal and moderate backbone into active Republican politics. He said the plan might have succeeded if there had been more time.

"I'd say that we probably could have used more time to our advantage," he said. "On the other hand, we tried to catch the other side by surprise and we succeeded."

One effect of the alliance which he once called a "coalition for victory," may be a change in the way presidential politics are played herself.

Fire fighter charged with setting forest fires

OAKLEY—A six-week arson investigation ended here Thursday night with the arrest of an unidentified Boise man.

The 24-year-old U.S. Forest Service fire fighter is charged with seven counts of arson in connection with fires stretching from the Stanley area to Oakley.

His identity is being withheld by federal authorities pending possible action by a grand jury in Boise.

Sheriff's deputies Terry Eingham of Cassia County and Dennis Lamum of Jerome County and Forest Service investigator Cecil Williams of Blaine County made the arrest in Oakley Thursday night.

The man, who has worked with the Forest Service intermittently as a fire fighter over the past two years, was moved to jail in Twin Falls.

Several Oakley residents had contacted the Cassia County Sheriff's Department calling for investigation of fires in that area.

He allegedly started fires at Redfish Lake near Stanley, on Bureau of Land Management land in Jerome County and at Birch Creek in Cassia County.

Officials said the Birch Creek fire occurred on July 23, shortly after the man moved to the Oakley area.

TWIN FALLS — The expedition started west on the Oregon Trail in midsummer.

They traveled about 1,600 miles across the continent with two horses and provisions, camping along the way.

Many times on the trip they met friendly natives who gave them shelter for the winter and one who even gave them another horse so they would not have to take turns walking as they had for many miles.

Sound like a history book?

Guess again. It is the story of Jim and Debby Hull's personal Bicentennial parade across the Oregon Trail on horseback in 1976.

The Hulls started in Moscow Mills, Mo., last summer and have spent five and a half months actually on the road. They had to stop in Cozad, Neb., for the winter when Jim was kicked by a horse and suffered a broken arm.

Even in 1976, adventures on the order of Lewis and Clark have been theirs.

For instance, one day Debby's horse suddenly went chest-deep in a quicksand pit as they were crossing the North Platte River in Nebraska

Debby jumped to safety, but it took several minutes to free the horse, who fortunately had an iron ring on the edge of the pit.

Since that time, Jim and Debby said, they can't even lead the horse to water, let alone make him drink. He crawls gingerly up water holes on his belly.

Once, a patch of apparently dry ground turned out to be an alkali pit into which the horses blundered.

And while the Hulls were staying with some people one night, their horses got out of the corral and headed back east, apparently for home. The critters were miles down the road when the state troopers caught them.

Along the way, the couple picked up a stray dog which they named Waldo.

Waldo has been their constant companion ever since, even learning to bathe precariously on the pack horse to avoid having to walk.

Near Fort Hall, Jim recalled, "we were talking turns walking because we only had two horses and needed one for a pack horse."

"It was Debby's turn to walk her ten miles," Jim related. "A man came along and saw her walking."

"He said, 'My gosh, girl, I can't let you walk like that.' So he gave us that mare," Jim said, pointing to the horse.

The Hulls have come 1,600 of the 2,400 miles they must travel to complete their trip along the old Oregon Trail.

They have been using "The Oregon Trail Revisited" in their travels, a guidebook that maps the way. "In a few years, nobody will be able to do the same thing we did," Debby said.

"Everything is sealed off."

She said many of the historical sites are on private property and when people learned of their adventure, they were allowed to see things the general public does not get to see.

"We have seen wagon tracks," Jim said. "And lots of graves. A lot of people die along the Oregon Trail."

The couple sporting deep suntans — "only the south side gets hot" — and weary bones from their long ride, have found the people's getting friendlier as they go west.

They plan to stay somewhere in the Twin Falls area to look for temporary work to finance the rest of their trip.

"We are non-sponsored," Jim said. "It's better that way because we don't have to meet any schedules. But we are running low on funds."

As soon as they can earn about $300, though, it's back on the trail in the east.

TWIN FALLS — If you call directory assistance and ask the operator for someone's number—there is an increasing chance every year you won't be able to get it.

The number of unlisted telephone numbers has been increasing nationally, and there has been a steady increase in Twin Falls over the last five or six years, according to Ken Mann, the district manager of Mountain Bell Telephone Co. in Twin Falls.

Mann says 1,657 of approximately 43,000 customers with telephones in Mountain Bell's southern Idaho district had unlisted numbers in 1975.

A Mountain Bell customer can choose to have a regular listing, obtainable from the phone book or the operator, a "non-listed" number, not published in the directory, but obtainable from the operator, or a "non-published" number, not obtainable from the phone book or the directory assistance operator.

The last is commonly called an "unlisted number."

There are 300,000 telephone subscribers in Idaho, according to Carroll Valentine, the Idaho public relations supervisor for Mountain Bell in Boise. About 13,000, or five per cent, of the numbers are unlisted and cannot be obtained through the phone book or the operator.

Valentine indicated that in terms of unlisted numbers, Idaho is about average in comparison with the rest of the country.

More specifically, there were many reasons for people wanting unlisted telephone numbers:

—Some people cherish their privacy more than others and don't want to be solicited over the phone. He said this might be especially true of prominent people who don't want to receive calls from the general public.

—Some find an element of "snob appeal" in having an unlisted number.

—A customer may not wish to be contacted by a specific person. An example would be a divorced woman who doesn't want to hear from her ex-husband.

—Some people could be fleecing creditors.

—There are probably 500 reasons for the thousand unlisted numbers we've got, Mann said.

Credit bureau managers seem to think there are far fewer than 500 reasons for unlisted telephone numbers.

According to area credit bureau managers, people who owe bills and have financial problems often have unlisted numbers.

George Hughes, the manager of the Twin Falls Credit Bureau, admitted, "There is a lot of them that do them."

Nell Morrison, manager of the Jerome Credit Bureau, indicated her agency frequently has to deal with the problem of tracking down people with unlisted numbers.

"Usually if they're avoiding bill collectors, they will get an unlisted phone number," Morrison said. "Then you have to call them in person, and very often they will have a box number and it's difficult to track them down."

She added good-humoredly, "It makes sense if you are trying to avoid bill collectors. They're just being very sensible about it."

Mann says customers with unlisted telephone numbers pay an additional $1 per month for the service. He indicated the dollar offsets additional clerical work and secretarial chores the unlisted numbers often cause.

"It is just a more difficult handling situation."

Mann said about unlisted numbers: "People call in and they have an emergency call—and we cannot give out the number."

Mann explained what happens in situations where a person calls information for an unlisted number, saying it is an emergency.

Mann gave the example of someone trying to notify a person with an unlisted telephone number about a death. Because the number is not in the directory and is not to be given out, the operator has to go to a locked file and look up the number. Then operator then calls the customer with the unlisted number to relay the emergency message. If the customer so chooses, he can return the call.

Mann said unlisted numbers also create added costs for the phone company because the names of persons with non-published numbers are specificaly marked add underlined in the operator's directory.

Nationally, the percentage of unlisted telephone numbers seems to rise with population density. The largest number of unlisted phones occurs in the country's large cities, where "telephone sales, harrassment, obscene calls and crimes in which telephones are used are more numerous."

For instance, in New York City 26.6 per cent of all the telephones are unlisted. The same trend is observed in other densely populated areas.

In California 29.4 per cent of the phones are unlisted and in New Jersey 25.1 per cent of the telephones are unlisted.

Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska are reported to have the lowest percentage of unlisted telephones. About 1.3 per cent are unlisted there.

Workers prepare exhibits for fair opening Tuesday

FILER—Entries were pouring in at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds here Saturday for the 1976 event which opens officially on Tuesday.

Tom Shouse, manager, said workers will take advantage of the holiday weekend to complete their exhibits, booths and concession stands. He said from all early indications it will be "bigger and better" for the bicentennial year.

Miss Rodeo America, Betty Schell; Roger Johnson, will be in the grand entry event at each night's rodeo and will crown the new Miss Rodeo Idaho in a climax of the rodeo events next Saturday night.

This year's show is featuring five instead of the usual four rodeo shows with Cotton Rosser, one of the top producers of the nation, furnishing stock.

More than 50 of the cowboys appearing in Filer performed in the national finals last year at Oklahoma City. Tom Ferguson, top all-around in the nation with $30,000 in winnings to his credit this year, will be among the nation's top cowboys appearing in competition in the Filer arena.

Benny Reynolds, a long-time favorite of Twin Falls County fans, is back in the bull riding division, and Dean Oliver, Boise, long-time national top-ton performer will be competing again.

Several fair officials said there appear to be more early entries this year than ever before. Livestock, many antiques, kitchen and pantry and youth exhibits were in place Saturday.

All entries must be entered by noon Monday but other home and youth exhibits may be entered until 6 p.m. Monday.

This year the Filer Club awards assembly will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Friday in the yard of the Tom Parks Pavilion. The event was changed from the usual Saturday schedule in order not to conflict with the Fat Stock Sale and the horse show, both held Saturday for 4-H members.

This year's rodeo will open with a spectacular tribute to the United States Bicentennial observance, says Bob Barton, public relations officer for the Flying U Rodeo Co., headed by Rosser.

"We think this will be the most appealing show opening ceremony we have ever offered," Barton said.

Another special attraction of the rodeo this year will be the wild mule riding event in which local cowboys are invited to participate. A $100 purse plus a $15 entry fee per rider will go to make up the winnings for the contestants.

Any cowboy interested in trying their skill may enter at the fair offices.

"This is a fun event and will give the rodeo fans an opportunity to see some of their local boys in the arena," Barton said.

ALAN McMURRAY, city draftsmen, right, points out items of interest on a display showing proposed changes to Rock Creek Camp. Monte Lee, communications supervisor for the fire department, looks on. The display, along with many others from more than a dozen city departments, will be set up Sept. 18 on Main Street east as part of the second annual City Days.

Tuition review planned

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Three state officials agreed Friday local school boards should use their own discretion in determining the question of non-resident student enrollment and tuition charges until the attorney general issues a formal opinion.

"State Board of Education Chairman Edward L. Benoit, Attorney General Wayne Kidwell and Superintendent of Public Instruction Roy Truly said they resolved the question in two days of conferences in person and over the telephone."

Benoit issued a statement late Friday afternoon stating the three "have today discussed jointly the recently publicized question concerning the enrollment of nonresident district students and the charging of nonresident tuition by school districts."

"The three of us agreed that it was unfortunate that the matter arose as it did and that it was to a great extent caused by a lack of communication."

"The problem has been corrected."

"As the matter now stands, the attorney general will review the question in its entirety and issue a formal opinion."

"Pending the receipt of the opinion it is our joint advice that local school districts follow the policy reestablished by the state board on Sept. 2 that whether or not school districts accept enrollment of non resident students and whether or not such students be charged tuition shall be left to the discretion of the local school boards."

The question arose from a letter written by Deputy Attorney General James R. Hargis sent to Superintendent of Public Instruction Roy Truly stating school districts cannot require residence as a criterion for enrollment.

Kidwell said Tuesday the letter was not a formal opinion or a day by day legal guideline for the department to use in that it did not contain the detailed formal analysis of an attorney general's opinion.

The State Board of Education meeting in Boise Thursday adopted a policy advising local school boards they may exercise discretion in both the enrollment of non resident students and in asking tuition from them.

Phaseout case on docket

BOISE (UPI) — An attempt to delay the State Board of Education's phase-out of the architecture program at Idaho State University will be argued before the Supreme Court Thursday at Pocatello.

This case, being appealed to the high court by the board from a lower court ruling, is one of 13 cases for which the court will hear oral arguments next week while sitting in Pocatello.

Four students on their own behalf and as a class action brought the architecture suit against the Board of Education, saying its decision in December of 1974 to phase out the program in three years will deny first, second and third year students the opportunity to graduate from ISU with a baccalaureate degree. The program requires five years of study.

District Judge Arthur P. Oliver granted an injunction requiring the university of prolonging the phase-out in order to allow respondents to complete their studies and obtain their degrees. The board appealed from this ruling.

School hearings slated

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho public school patrons will have a chance Sept. 30 to comment on changes in high school graduation requirements that may include the addition of consumer economics, fine arts and health along with more English and math.

The Department of Education rescheduled for Sept. 30 its series of public speak-outs on the proposed requirement changes instead of Sept. 23 as previously scheduled due to the presidential debates.

The proposed requirement would increase total requirements to 39 credits from the 34 presently stipulated.

The package was developed by officials of the State Department of Education and the public school subcommittee of the State Board of Education.

The Sept. 30 round of public discussions will be held at 8 p.m. in Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Twin Falls, Boise, Nampa, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

Changes in the proposed system would require:

An additional semester of mathematics.

An additional semester of English.

A reduction by two semester credits of U.S. history.

One semester of consumer economics.

Two semesters of fine arts.

Another proposal to be discussed at the statewide hearings is proficiency testing for high school graduation at the option of the district.

Gem suit defense planned

BOISE (UPI) — The chairman of the Environmental Fund Investment Board said the board will rely on the attorney general's office to provide its defense in a lawsuit brought Friday by State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon to stop four investment practices she has taken issue with.

Mrs. Moon filed a suit Friday asking the Idaho Supreme Court to stop four practices of the Endowment Fund Investment Board which she claims are "in violation of the Constitution, Idaho Admission Act and laws of the State of Idaho."

Mrs. Moon said the suit follows a letter of July 23 to board chairman Gregg Wharry, Boise, citing four legal problems and asking the board to correct them by Aug. 31.

The treasurer asked the board to:

Stop any future transfers of interest income to the investment board expense fund.

Stop any future transfers of interest income to the investment board expense fund.

Stop any future reinvestment of interest income, or to make a transfer of such income for distribution to the public schools of Idaho.

Close the two daily interest savings accounts.

In her letter the treasurer said she "would like these controversies to be resolved without legal action."

"Since that time I have had no response from the board. They held a meeting Aug. 25 and didn't see fit to even put my request on the agenda for discussion," Mrs. Moon said.

Wharry said, "my only reaction is that we simply turned her letter over to the attorney general — he's our legal counsel — apparently the treasurer has some other counsel — but we depend on the attorney general for legal advice, whatever he tells us to do we'll do."

Venezuelan plane crashes in Azores, kills 68

Sunday, September 5, 1976 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 15

Flee eruption

AMOK. Waves of smoke and steam rise from Taal (Volcano) Island in the Philippines are these three children. The volcano continued to belch clouds of steam, ash and gas Saturday. Officials ordered more than 5,000 persons living on the island and in nearby lakeside villages evacuated. Some experts have said the eruption may be linked to recent Asian earthquakes. (UPI)

Arabs call meet on Lebanon mess

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Arab foreign ministers and ambassadors decided late Saturday to convene a summit conference on the Lebanese crisis next month in Cairo. Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi said.

Fahmi made the announcement as he emerged from an emergency meeting of nine foreign ministers and representatives of 10 other Arab countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization — the fourth Arab League conference on Lebanon in three months.

"The delegates were unanimous that the time is ripe for arranging a summit," Fahmi said. "Agreement was reached to convene the summit in Cairo in the second half of October to examine the Lebanon situation," he said.

The announcement came as a surprise. Political sources had said after an earlier session Saturday that a conference of leaders of all 20 Arab League members was unlikely because of deep political differences among member states.

Fahmi made it clear that the summit was not being convened immediately to enable Lebanon to be represented by President Elias Sarkis, who is due to take over from hawkish Christian President Sulaiman Franjeh Sept. 23.

Sarkis is more acceptable to all factions involved in the civil war. Political sources said it was hoped the day of the pan-Arab summit would give Sarkis time to mediate a stable truce in the 17-month war.

The delay will also give Arab states time to hold bilateral and collective contacts to "clear the Arab atmosphere," Fahmi said.

Fighting goes on

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Heavy rocket and mortar fire wracked Lebanon's two largest cities Saturday and fighting increased in the central mountains and around the southern port city of Sidon, where another Syrian push was expected.

Casualties in Beirut, where Christians and leftists traded rocket fire in the commercial quarter, and in Tripoli, where shelling continued sporadically during the day, were estimated at 150 men and 120 dead.

The confrontations also were active in the central mountains northeast of Beirut and in the Jableh south, where Palestinian guerrillas skirmished with Syrian troops.

Attacks expected

© Chicago Daily News

TEL AVIV — Southern Lebanese villagers have told their Israeli Christian relatives of mounting fears of an imminent Muslim attack on their far-flung communities.

The grim reports came from elderly men and women who arrived at the so-called poor Gata near Kibbutz Doviv on the Israel-Lebanon frontier for family reunions.

Many of the Maronite Christian Israelis who drove to the border crossing point to pick up their Lebanese guests had not been in touch with their relatives since 1948. The Palestine war that erupted last year and the subsequent armistice agreement with Lebanon barred contact between Israeli and Lebanese Maronites, as did all other citizens of the two countries.

Peso's value drops

© N.Y. Times Service

MEXICO CITY — The value of the peso fell by 30 percent Thursday when foreign exchange dealers resumed the currency's fixed parity with the dollar.

The new rate of the peso, set by the Bank of Mexico four days earlier for a 24-hour period, was considered by many banks to be surprisingly low and likely to raise in the weeks ahead.

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (UPI) — A Venezuelan air force transport plane carrying a university choir to a festival in Spain crashed in James Saturday as it tried to land in a hurricane at a U.S. Air Force base. All 60 persons on board were killed.

Officials said the Lockheed Hercules C-130 had left Caracas with 31 women and 27 men of the Orquesta Universitaria Choir, from the Universidad Central de Venezuela, and eight crew members. The choir was en route to an international choral festival in Barcelona, where it was to perform Saturday with choirs from Poland and Ireland.

"All we know is that everyone aboard has died," the Venezuelan embassy spokesman said.

The plane crashed in flames about 200 yards from the Lajes airport, a U.S. Air Force installation maintained by the United States since 1953 under a mutual defense agreement with Portugal.

Although the cause of the crash has not been officially determined, the national weather service said "the eye of Hurricane Emmy was probably on top of Lajes" at the time of the crash.

Witnesses said the destruction of the plane was so complete only the tail section remained intact. Wreckage and mangled corpses were strewn over a wide area.

The plane reportedly was on its second landing attempt when the crash occurred. The pilot was identified as Raul Morales and the co-pilot was Lt. Col. Jesus Linares. Venezuela's ambassador to Portugal, Alfredo Baldo, said a second Venezuelan military aircraft left Caracas for the Azores to retrieve the bodies and carried a team of investigators to report on the cause of the crash.

The Miami Hurricane Center reported winds at Lajes of about 35 mph with gusts over open water of up to 75 mph. It said Emmy had generated winds extending 100 miles from its center.

S. Africa police try to keep lid on violence

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Sharp-tongued police reinforcements patrolled Cape Town Saturday to stop rioting in which an 8-year-old girl was shot to death and the wife of Premier John Vorster was caught in a tear gas attack.

In the only violence reported Saturday, police fired volleys of tear gas into crowds of "colored" demonstrators in a public square in Cape Town near Port Elizabeth, and 12 miles east of Cape Town. Witnesses said about 100 colored, the official government designation for persons of mixed race, carried placards demanding an end of apartheid and the release of the Rev. Alan Hendrikse, jailed chairman of the colored Labor Party.

Scattered stonethrowing incidents and arson were reported in other towns in Cape Province. In Matjiesfontein, a fire burned for several hours at a black high school.

Otherwise, riot police, reinforced from Johannesburg overnight, kept Cape Town calm after two days of bloodshed which spread into the exclusively white downtown area for the first time in 10 weeks of nationwide racial strife.

Friday's riots an 8-year-old girl was shot in front of a colored high school. The girl, identified as Sandra Peters, heart-transplant center identified during the plot at Granda, died during the plot at Granda, bringing to 200 the number killed in the racial rioting.

Drug war resumes

© N.Y. Times Service

MEXICO CITY — The United States and Mexico have resumed their joint campaign to eradicate thousands of opium poppy plantations in the hope of sharply reducing the flow of Mexican heroin into the United States before the end of this year.

Although spraying of opium poppy and marijuana with herbicides first began last November, this year's campaign is being launched at the start of the poppy growing season, enabling both countries to make controls predictions in an early start of "brown" heroin on both sides of the border.

TWIN FALLS—The After 5 Club, an extension of the Christian Women's Club, will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 16 at the Holiday Inn. Dessert will be served for $1.50.

There will be a speaker, a special feature and music. Dues will not be required, but women wishing to attend must make reservations by calling Sandi Phillips, 423-1551. Anyone is welcome to attend, particularly young mothers and working women.

Wendell native wins contest

WENDELL—Elaine Arpbose Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Arpbose, Wendell, has won first place in the nation through a collegiate competition.

A former television personality in Twin Falls, Ms. Nielsen is now the assistant director of school services at the University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

The contest which Ms. Nielsen won was sponsored by the council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) and the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB).

All universities in the nation were invited to submit their programs describing their communications procedures to prospective students. Ms. Nielsen wrote and submitted a 12-page essay entitled "University of Utah Communications: Constant, Creative and Comprehensive." Other materials were included with the report.

Ms. Nielsen was flown to Washington, D.C., for the awards ceremonies. First prize was $1,500 to be used for scholarships at the University of Utah.

Woolgrowers auxiliary sponsors contest

BUIL—The auxiliary to the Woolgrowers Association is sponsoring the Make-It-Yourself-Wool Contest. This contest encourages the use of wool fabric and yarn and calls attention to the fine qualities of this natural fiber by offering people an opportunity to compete for prizes and win recognition for their skills.

This competition is open to everyone age 10 and over. Only professionals in the field of home economics, fashion, sewing, knitting or crocheting are ineligible. All entries must be made from a percentage of at least 70 per cent wool and no more than 30 per cent synthetic fiber.

Sewing, knitting or crocheting ability is not the only quality required in the contest. Judging is also based on fashion and the poise and presentation of the contestant when modeling the garment.

Idaho will have five district winners who will advance to the state competition in November. Junior, senior and adult divisions. Junior and senior winners in their districts will advance to the state competition in Idaho Falls on Nov. 14-16.

The two state winners will then go to Monterey, Calif., in January to compete with other state winners from all over America. Grand prize for two national winners is a 15-day trip to Mexico.

Idaho state director for the contest is Mrs. F.G. Bradford Route 4, Box 228, Buena. She can reply to all questions or supply rules forms and entry blanks upon your request.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

An asking bid is an artificial bid that asks partner for specialized information about his holding in a specific suit. First thought of by Eli Culbertson around 1895 these bids turned out to be too advanced for that early day, but have been revived for modern use. Each expert has his own set that he touts out at the proper time.

The great weakness of these bids is that the need to use one seldom occurs and even when it does come up it isn't perfect.

As an example, in a recent team match each South player had a method of asking for partner's diamond holding after receiving a positive two-spade response to the artificial two-club opening.

Each-South-player also decided to make the unscientific bid of six hearts.

Why did they do this?

Two reasons. The first was that they did not want to telegraph the opening lead so that even if the defenders held ace and king of diamonds they might not find that lead.

The second was that even if North could show both ace and king of diamonds, there would be no way to ask for the important queen of spades.

Finally, if North happened to hold two aces he might have gone on to seven after that jump to six.

Ask the Jacobys

A Delaware reader wants to know when the lead-directing double was first thought of and who thought of it.

The late Joseph B. Ewell thought of it for use in the game of bridge back in 1904. When dealer or partner made notrump, a double would call for a heart lead.

More women seeking elective office

CONWICH News Service
WASHINGTON — The number of women seeking elective office has continued to grow slowly but steadily in 1976, based on primary returns from 43 states.

At the national level, 35 women were seeking election to the House of Representatives as of Aug. 24, compared with 28 after the primaries in 1974. As many as 52 could be nominated to stand in the November general elections after primaries in the remaining 17 states.

Up to five women could win nominations to run for the U.S. Senate this year. In Connecticut, Secretary of State Gloria Schaffer is assured of the Democratic nomination, but Mrs. Schaffer's contest with Republican Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. is expected to be close.

In races for state legislatures, 507 women had received major party endorsements by Aug. 30, compared with 469 by the same date in 1974.

"There are going to be fewer women candidates overall (including local races) this year than in 1974, simply because there are fewer elections, predominantly at the congressional level, and fewer offices to run for," said Betsy Wright, executive director of the National Women's Education Fund, which has compiled the figures on women seeking office.

"But we are excited by the increase in the number of women running for state legislatures," she said.

"We've got to get up to at least 40 per cent women in the state legislatures and at the county and municipal level before we can even think about a fair share of the governorships, the Senate or the House."

"You have to have that pool of candidates to draw from — and right now we're probably about 8 per cent of the legislatures. People don't realize how pitifully small the percentage of women in public office is, because whenever you see a report, it talks about all the progress that's been made. You'd think women were everywhere, but that's not the case at all."

In the U.S. Senate races, the fates of four women contenders will be decided by Oct. 2.

Democratic nomination against the popular Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga. All five Democratic Senate nominees except Mrs. Mink would face tough general elections.

Despite the substantial number of women seeking election to the House of Representatives, Miss Wright and other political activists do not expect that women will be much more than half the line on the number of women — 19 — sitting in Congress come 1977.

Two women, Mrs. Abzug and Mrs. Mink, are resigning from the House to run for the Senate and a third, Leontine K. Sullivan D-Mo., is retiring.

Only two of the 16 remaining incumbents are thought to be in trouble in their campaigns for re-election — Martha Keys D-Kan. and Helen Meyer D-N.J.; both of whom represent traditionally Republican districts. Mrs. Keys also has been hurt by her recent divorce and her subsequent marriage to Rep. Andrew Jacobs D-Ind.

IRS begins probe of wealthy pimps

CHICAGO Daily News

CHICAGO — The Internal Revenue Service has begun a major investigation of 10 pimps who pocketed from $10,000 to $20,000 a year from street-walking prostitutes. The Chicago Daily News learned Friday.

One of the pimps recently plunked down $15,000 in cash for a new Cadillac, auto officials said. Chicago auto dealership and appears to be living far above the reported income, investigators said.

Several of the pimps have fancy apartments, others own boats and expensive autos, and all seem to have an endless source of ready cash, investigators added.

"Some of these pimps have eight or nine streetwalkers working for them, and also operate call-girl operations on the side," said a top investigator.

These pimps take 90 per cent of the money they get from the streetwalkers. They give the girls just enough money to buy cosmetics, get their hair done and get by."

The IRS suspects that the pimps have not been paying federal income tax on much of the large volume of cash turned over to them by their stable of streetwalkers, investigators said.

The pimps, who generally dress in flashy clothes, park their expensive autos along Roosevelt Road while they attend court hearings in the Police Headquarters in the Police headquarters. Bustling notably, investigators said.

IRS agents have also been making daily trips to Police Headquarters to check the names of those arrested in a continuing police crackdown on streetwalkers.

The IRS agents have also monitored the activities of the pimps who have been there for court hearings, investigators said.

Streetwalkers make their patrons pay in cash and a single prostitute grosses as much as $20 or $30 a night, investigators said.

It is virtually impossible to trace the source of much of the cash because customers of hookers don't usually give their name and address, or wish to know that they had sexual relations.

Nun joins Marines

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —

"I just wasn't Sister Edward Joseph's 'thing' to go to church." So she left the convent and became a Marine.

Now, two years later, Marine Sgt. Pat Kumleger commutes daily from her parents' home in suburban Glenolden to the Naval Base in South Philadelphia where she is a legal clerk.

"It just wasn't my thing to go to church, teach school and not go out and ride a bike or go bowling or something," Miss Kumleger said.

She entered the order of Immaculate Heart of Mary as Sister Edward Joseph — the names of her father and brother — one year after graduating high school. She taught elementary school children during most of her six years as a nun.

"But I didn't want to be a school teacher," she said. "There wasn't any challenge in it."

So in June, 1973, Miss Kumleger left her convent in Valley Forge and joined the Marines. She was stationed in San Francisco for two years before being transferred to Philadelphia.

"I went down and picked up different brochures on different services and found the Marine Corps offered the most opportunity and greatest challenge," she said. "I like it very much. There's always something new."

"Right now I want to make a career-out-of the Marine Corps and just take life as it is," she said.

Miss Kumleger said she

DEAR ABBY: This is for the bride who said she didn't have her three older sisters in her wedding party because they already knew how much she loved them, her friends were more attractive, they could add more "class" to her wedding, and she could afford only three attendants.

I was married last June. (My bride is a school worker and I'm a school teacher.) We had 106 attendees in our wedding party—three men, three women and 100 junior bridesmaids.

My bride is a Girl Scout leader, and she included all her girls in the wedding ceremony. What a beautiful sight to see 100 young Girl Scouts, all shapes and sizes, ranging from 10 to 14, in the wedding procession!

I would like to tell the bride who found so many excuses for excluding her three older sisters that talk is cheap but love conquers all. And if we could have had 100 Girl Scouts in our wedding party, she could have worked her three sisters in somehow.

JUNE BRIDEGROOM

DEAR BRIDEGROOM: Congratulations to you and your bride. You are beautiful!

Troops attend leader's rites.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently attended a dinner party where a new couple in town was introduced. The woman, who was pretty and vivacious, immediately singled out my husband, who was the best-looking man there, and they were soon into a lively, two-way conversation.

They spoke only to each other, ignoring everyone present. I tried several times without success to get into the conversation.

I finally couldn't take it any longer, so I asked my husband for his car keys and started toward the door. He followed me and asked me what was wrong. By then I had tears in my eyes, and told him how I felt. He said I was being childish, but I insisted on leaving, so we both left without saying goodbye to anyone.

He has barely spoken to me since. Was I wrong? I think I was wise to leave before I created a scene.

FRANKLY JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: I would say you created at least a minor scene, but what's done is done. Your husband was insensitive and you were childish. Perhaps you both learned something from the experience. I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy and, believe it or not, I have never gone all the way with a girl.

I am going with a girl now, and I don't know whether she's a virgin, but here's the problem: We've done a lot of making out together. I mean we have done just about everything BUT...

If she has V.D., could she give it to me without going all the way? Please answer in the paper because my family is very nosy, and I don't want them to know my business.

THANK YOU.

WORRIED IN AMSTERDAM, N.Y.

DEAR WORRIED: It is possible to contract V.D. without going all the way if one of the two parties has it. A free examination (and treatment if necessary) is available through your county Department of Health.

Filer girl marries man from Canada

FILER: In the Filer Mennonite Church on Aug. 25, Bonita Miller, Filer, became the bride of John Isaak Jr., Winnipeg, Canada.

The bride is the daughter of James and Mary Ann Miller, Filer, and the bridegroom's parents are John and Agnes Isaak, Winnipeg.

Royden Schweitzer performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of peach and green gladiolus and daisies accented with baby's breath.

Tapers were lighted by Philip and Marcie Miller, brother and sister of the bride.

The couple lit the unity candle at a table which featured an open Bible.

The bride's gown was fashioned by her mother from ivory colored sympathy knit. It featured long puffed sleeves with lace cuffs, empire waistline and an A-line skirt which flowed into a chapel-length train.

Her headpiece held a fingertip length veil and she carried a bouquet of orange roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor for her sister was Cindy Couger, Filer, and Kristine Miller, Filer, was maid of honor. The bridegroom was best man and Wade Miller, brother of the bridegroom, and Willy Plett and Wayne Friesen were ushers.

Music was provided by a mixed quartet composed of Robert Floyd and Trevor Miller and Evelyn Slatter. Teresa Bennett sang while she accompanied herself on the guitar.

A reception for the newlyweds was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with the fountain wedding cake which was decorated with peach colored roses and topped with wedding bells.

Mrs. Al Friesen, sister of the bridegroom, served punch, and Berdene Miller, cousin of the bride, poured coffee.

Kitchen assistants were Mrs. Joe Schultz and Mrs. Robert Miller, both aunts of the bride from Buhl; Mrs. Floyd Miller, cousin of the bride from Crivin Falls, and Mrs. Doug Stutzman, Buhl.

Carolyn Ginderick, friend of the bridegroom from Oregon, was in charge of the guest book.

Out-of-town guests attended from Canada, Indiana, Colorado, Oregon and Boise.

After the trip to the Tetons, Yellowstone Park and the Black Hills the couple will be at home in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, where the bridegroom is employed by the Manitoba Telephone System.

Prior to the wedding the bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner for the wedding party at the home of the bride's parents.

"Because of its large number of educational institutions and its numerous buildings built in the Greek style, Nashville is called the Athens of the South,

Health group to meet

SUN VALLEY — The annual meeting of the Mental Health Association of Idaho will be held Oct. 1-3 at Elkhorn at Sun Valley.

Tony Watkins, president of the National Association for Mental Health, will speak as well as Dr. Robert Glover, Boise director of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare's Community Rehabilitation Services.

Lorenzo Palmo, program chairman of the National Association for Mental Health, will address the Saturday night dinner meeting Oct. 2.

Dr. Glover, and Jerry Dickinson, director, Idaho Health Systems Agency, will speak at the opening session Oct. 1, with a panel to discuss issues raised by the women.

Discussion groups are planned Saturday morning Oct. 2, with a general membership meeting Saturday afternoon.

Other officers nominated for the following year include Marilyn Loening, Boise president; Jim Adams, Moscow vice-president; Jim Mann, Boise treasurer; Mosell Nora, Twin Falls secretary.

Meeting planned

your health

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb:

I am a man 77 years of age, and I have a condition known as "restless legs syndrome" which is becoming increasingly worse as time passes and leaves me shaky, tired and nervous.

I have no trouble getting to sleep but a crawling sensation of tingling awakens me out of sound sleep and makes it impossible to remain in bed. I have been informed by doctors that medical science has not come up with a cure for this strange condition. I have tried several drugs to no avail, including acetaminophen.

My sleep periods last from 15 minutes to almost one and a half hours. Between periods I walk the floor 25 to 30 minutes, take hot tub baths for 10 minutes, cold towels are wrapped around the legs and I have deep heat massage or read.

I eat—sensibly—exercise—regularly—walk—daily—and—take vitamins. I am beginning to feel tired and weary. Six hours sleep doesn't seem to be enough. I would be most grateful if you could suggest something that would help me.

Reader suffers from restless legs

Dear Reader:

Fortunately this condition is rare, but it is real. A recent research report of family with this problem raised the question of it being hereditary.

Elmer G. Lutz, a psychiatrist and neurologist, reported that he had good success in treating such cases by eliminating coffee and all drinks that contain caffeine and giving the patients a muscle relaxant. There is a possibility that the problem in some people is related to drinking coffee and other caffeine containing beverages.

In view of this report I would suggest that you eliminate all coffee, tea, colas, coca and all forms of chocolate. At the same time perhaps your doctor will prescribe a muscle relaxant.

You might get some relief by taking Benadryl, an antihistamine, bedtime. A good exercise program is advisable and I am glad to hear that you do exercise regularly.

To give you more information on caffeine containing drinks I am sending you The Health Letter number 11: Cofee, Tea, Cola, Coca. Others who want this information can send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1581, Big City Station, New York, NY 10119. And I would like to know how your program works out by avoiding these beverages. Let me know as I am interested in your problem.

Dear Dr. Lamb:

Spent time to see where were news stories about chemicals used in decaffeinating coffee being dangerous and could cause cancer. Would greatly appreciate it if you would let me know something about this as we drink this coffee quite frequently and don't know whether to give it up or not.

Dear Reader,

You don't need to worry about that. The story concerned the chemical process used to decaffeinate the coffee. There was no real evidence that the amount used was in anyway a health hazard. In fact, to be subject to the same threat observed in animal experiments a person would have had to drink a million cups of decaffeinated coffee a day for life — a rather unlikely possibility.

Despite the absence of real evidence of harm to consumers the company manufacturing the two brands in question changed the procedure rather than be harassed, so the question is no longer relevant. If it ever was in the first place.

Gem-music teachers will convene in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Music Teachers Association will hold its state convention in Twin Falls Oct. 1 and 2.

Mrs. Robert Blaustock Jr., Filer, president of the state group, says the convention will be held at the College of Southern Idaho with Dr. Amanda Vick Lettice, Ashton, Tex., as featured speaker.

Dr. Lettice attended Juilliard School of Music studying with Ruth Gang, Douglas Moore and James Frishman and many others. She travels throughout the country as an invited piano instructor. "Her musical concepts are clean and concise and she is known for the fine teaching is apparent," Mrs. Blaustock said.

Dr. Lettice, along with Dr. William Palmer, are co-authors of the "Creating Music Series" as well as many other educational materials for the young student.

Mrs. Blaustock urges all teachers of music to attend for what she calls "a very unique and rewarding experience."

The program will feature Teresa Stradely, the Twentieth Century Club's Girls State representative.

Mrs. John Detweller will present the history and accomplishments of the club and Mrs. George Hartley will give the tribute to the former presidents.

Guests from federated clubs of neighboring towns and officers of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs will be guests of the local club.

Biking, smog—deadly duo

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Bicycling is a popular exercise that can contribute to better health — unless you breathe the effects of pollutant toxicity on the body. Such a pill is near the wrong air.

Exercising in smog environments, according to University of California researchers, tends to impair rather than improve a person's condition.

In new research involving bicyclists, investigators at the Davis campus found that as ozone levels increase during pedaling, the average person's breathing becomes more rapid and lung breakdown starts to occur.

Although the human body can adapt and build resistance to small increases in smog intake, a long-term exposure to air pollutants can cause such debilitating changes as lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, emphysema and lung fibrosis.

"Obviously, the risk is one the cyclist must be willing to accept should exercise in smog be attempted," said one report on the subject.

On the bright side, researcher Tony De Lucia says, is the possibility of creating an "antismog pill" to decrease the hazards of photochemical and industrial air pollution.

He believes the antismog pill is a very real possibility in the near future, but in the meantime, he has some lifesaving advice for persons who live-in smoggy environments.

— In exercise such as biking, reduce speeds and avoid hilly rides.

MR. AND MRS. RICK DEDRICKSON

Salt Lake temple scene of wedding

GOODING — Lorraine Shaver and Rick Dedrickson were married Aug. 19 in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple. The bride is the daughter of Jerl Shaver and Laurn Shaver Gooding. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gale Dedrickson, Spanish Fork, Utah.

The couple was honored at a wedding breakfast at the Waltons in "Salt Lake City." Immediately after the ceremony, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

A reception was held at the LDS Church in Gooding, the evening of Aug. 21. The reception line formed in front of a backdrop of white and green curtains.

The bride's table was decorated with lace over green, accented with green ribbon and lights. The serving tables were covered with lace with green underlays and were centered with brandy snifters of floating green daisies.

The bride's gown was Chapel train length with lace at the yoke and sleeves. The train length veil was held in place with a seed pearl Spanish collar. The bride carried a white rose bouquet with green baby breath.

The bridesmaids were Kathy Baugh, Kimberly, sister of the bride; Jana Dedrickson, Spanish Fork, sister of the bridegroom; Sally Muscat, Gooding; Karla Homer, Idaho Falls, and Tammy Ungerman, Butte, Mont.

Best man was Paul Best, stepbrother of the bride. Pam Hockmiller, Gooding, created gowns at the guest book. An aunt of the bride, Leah Camp, Salt Lake City, presided over the bride's table. Georgia Clark, Bagerman, made the wedding cake.

The guests were entertained with a program: Sharon Wood, Bagerman, and Sonja Barnes Boise, were soloists. Background music was played during the reception by Myrna Camp, Jerome, and Diane Falal, Rock Springs, Wyoming, aunts of the bride.

Assisting with the reception were Carol Turner, Privo, Utah, and Pam Eaton, Boise, at the gift table. Helping in the kitchen were Mary Schmitt; Carole Finch and Janet Gorrell, Gooding.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Waldamere Camp, Jerome, and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Shaver, Gooding. Out-of-town guests were from Utah, Wyoming, Montana and California.

Preprincipal showers were given by Nel Morrison, Sally Muscat, Julie Koyle and Pam Eaton. An open house was hosted by the bridegroom's parents in Spanish Fork on Aug. 19.

The couple will live in Spanish Fork where he is employed and attending BYU.

Burley nips Jerome 29-28 on Ehle's overtime kick

JEROME — Scott Ehle's extra-point kick in overtime lifted the Burley Bobcats to a 29-28 decision over the Burley Bobcats Friday night.

Ehle's decisive kick came after Jerome rallied in the closing minutes to tie the game, and both teams had scored touchdowns on their first scrimmage in the playoff. But the difference was Jerome's two-point conversion pass was knocked away and that left Burley — after a Dave Jones to Ray Hurst pass — to take the ball out of scoring.

Burley opened strong, scoring in the first period. But Jerome dominated the second period, scoring twice and missing a couple of other chances. One came when Brad Cook blocked a Bobcat punt at the 18, but two plays later Jerome fumbled it away at the 10.

An inadvertent whistle killed a Jerome pass interception that could have given the Tigers the ball at about the 25.

But in the third period Burley came out strong again and appeared to have it won until a pass interception sprung things back to Jerome for the tying points. Another stolen pass gave Jerome a chance for a field goal attempt from the 18, but Burley blocked that with a second field goal.

Burley, which put the ball in the air 20 times, opened with a long Jones pass that carried to the Jerome 34. From there Brown, Gary Gee and Joe Armstrong took turns punching it down to the one-yard line before Armstrong bucked over with 4:16 left in the first period. Ehle (pronounced Ee-Lee) booted the first of three points after.

But Burley's sideline jubilation was shortlived as little Brad Carpenter returned the opening kickoff 60 yards to the 10, and then scored on a 10-yard run. Carpenter then got a 10-yard run and a pass netted just two yards, but Carpenter again squirmed into the end zone on a pitchout. Richard Sturgeon tied it 7-7 with his kick.

Burley had punt early in the second period and Jerome bounced back with a drive. Most of it came on a 29-yard touch-down bomb from Greg Tibault to Scott Jackson, a happy happenstance that left new Coach Duane Alexander smiling but slinking his head on the sideline.

"There was a lot up," he confided. "We had a post called on this side of the field."

But he took the touchdown and Sturgeon again converted.

After that came the Brad Cook-blocked punt and the teams seemed slugging it out toward a 14-14 halftime.

But in the closing couple of minutes, Burley regained possession, and Gee fired things up with a 34-yard romp into Jerome territory. Jones then hit a pair of passes, the last one to Kerbs for five yards and the touchdown. Jones rolled out for the go-ahead two-point conversion.

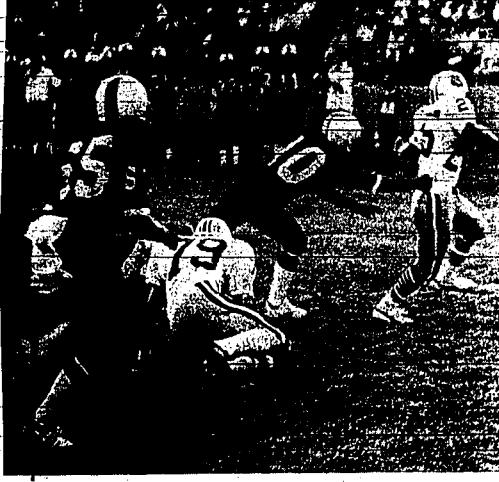

The second half was largely Burley with Gee punting in from close range and Ehle converting to make it 22-22.

For a long time it appeared it would end that way. Then an interception breathed life back into the Tigers. Jerome drove down to the 10-yard line before Tibault hit Jackson with a slip over the middle for the touchdown. Tibault rolled out for the tying two-pointer.

Burley won the overtime flip and elected to go on defense. That looked bad for a minute as Tibault ran the option well, pitching out to Carpenter at the last minute for the 10-yard score.

The Bobcats' defense was a quick enforcement. Jones hitting Hurst for the 10 yards and that left it up to Ehle.

BURLEY HALFBACK Gary Gee pulls away from a Jerome defender midway through a 10-yard gain early in the Friday night football test at Jerome. The Bobcats won 29-28 in overtime.

Hansen-led Skyline drops Minico 42-12

TWIN FALLS — Skyline junior fullback Carl Hansen scored 22 points and ran for over 100 yards Friday night in leading the Grizzlies past Minico's Spartans 42-12.

Hansen made it a rough Southern Idaho Conference debut for new Minico Coach Kay Harper. The Spartans, giving away a lot of weight in the line, "moved" the ball mostly through the air but couldn't match up with what Skyline Coach Mahlon Rasmussen believes is the biggest team the school has ever fielded.

Minico, in its second starting year for the Grizzlies, got the scoreboard going two minutes from the end of the first period when John Clark, a 55-yard touchdown run. Bob Jones booted the point after.

Just 30 seconds into the second period, Hansen scored again, this time from 12 yards away. He also got the two-pointer across following a Minico penalty. Jeff Clark's run back sparked Minico to a good threat immediately after but a big loss on fourth down killed that.

A Jones to Doug Clements pass carried Skyline back to the Spartan 23 before Minico's Jerry Burke ended the threat by recovering a fumble. But the Grizzlies weren't to be denied on their next possession. Bob Miller gathering in a 23-yard scoring strike from Jones.

Minico got the ball with 30 seconds left in the third period, Hansen ploughing in from the 15. They came up two more Skyline scores in an eight-minute period. Jones went seven yards for the first and Eric Nielsen three yards for the second. Jones botched one point after.

With just under three minutes left, Minico struck for its last touchdown on a 51-yard bomb from John Crystal to Joe Wood.

Kimberly blanks Oakley 24-0

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Bulldogs, new edition, looked just like the old Friday night as the defense proved took control and provided several of the scoring chances in a 24-0 decision over Oakley.

After a scoreless first quarter, Kimberly put together a drive that nearly ended in disaster before success. That game when halfback Doug Self fumbled when bit just short of the goal line. But, Bulldog Perry Krueger punched on it to save the touchdown and give the Bulldogs a 6-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Oakley gambled on four and one at its own 31 and was stopped. A few plays later, Shane Surgeon burst across from the eighth. Minutes later the defense again gave the offense good field position and the ensuing drive culminated in Surgeon's 15-yard scoring sprint.

In the fourth period, Kimberly drove inside the 10-yard line before Oakley stopped the threat — momentarily. Trying to pass out of the hole, Surgeon fumbled and Kevin Lancaster on a 10-yard scoring strike.

But in the second period Peterson capped a drive by going over from the nine-yard line. He also ran for the two points. Just before the half Peterson broke loose on a 34-yard scoring jaunt and again converted.

Peterson wound up scoring in the third period with a 27-yard gallop.

PETERTON, HAGERMAN beat Wendell 22-6

HAGERMAN — Senior Guy Peterson picked up all the points

Friday night when the Hagerman Pirates dropped the Wendell Trojans 22-6.

Hagerman spotted Wendell the opening touchdown and from then on fairly well dominated the game in general and the scoreboard in particular.

Wendell moved ahead when Sam Osborne hooked up with Kevin Lancaster on a 10-yard scoring strike.

But in the second period Peterson capped a drive by going over from the nine-yard line. He also ran for the two points. Just before the half Peterson broke loose on a 34-yard scoring jaunt and again converted.

Peterson wound up scoring in the third period with a 27-yard gallop.

Kelly nips Gooding

GOODING — Gooding unmasked the passing arm of Alabama transfer John Lynn but Bishop Kelly showed up with 54 people Friday night and won the battle for the H-4 decision.

McKinley fumbled 10 ball 13 times with excellent success, giving the day's touch and forcing a fumble. Ken Krahn to call him the best high school passer he'd seen in years.

The Spartans got on the board late in the half, pounding on a 26-yard fumble at the Knights' 15-yard line. With seconds left, looking at a fourth and three situation, Gooding sent Ben Stevens noseus from the three-yard line.

Midway through the third period Kelly put together a march from about midfield to score on a three-yard plunge, but the conversion failed, leaving the score tied.

Gooding fumbled immediately after the kickoff, held the Knights' at its 15 and then punted again. Again from about mid-field the Knights drove for the clinching touchdown.

Gooding made one last bid in the waning seconds. Manu hit Kirk full with a 43-yarder to get into Kelly territory but a last play from Howard Stevens was picked off by the Knights.

Finding daylight

CUTTING BACK Buhl halfback Chris Bell picks up a yard after breaking a 27-yard pass against the Kuna Cavemen Friday night. Buhl won the season opener 24-14.

Late scores, Schmeckpeper's arm carry Buhl Indians by Kuna 24-14

BUHL — Buhl's Indians proved themselves masters of the late score Friday night when they outstugged the Kuna Cavemen 24-14.

The Indians broke a scoreless deadlock nine seconds from the end of the first half and didn't let things away until 1:49 remained in the game. They never trailed but were tied once and most of the second half fought to a 14-14 advantage.

Kuni did a strong job of containing Buhl's running most of the night, but couldn't do that and still stop the throwing of Cary Schmeckpeper. Schmeckpeper found good receivers in Ken Hulse, Chris Bell and Gary Paulsen. It made all the difference.

Buhl sustained a setback when senior tackle Ron Peterson injured a shoulder and probably will be out for the season.

A fumble and an interception — the latter at the 10-yard line — stymied two early promising moves by the Indians and the game settled down to a slugfest.

Late in the half Buhl finally got on the scoreboard when Schmeckpeper hit Hulse on a five-yard scoring strike — Hulse' fifth reception of the half. Allyn Reynolds then found good receivers in Ken Hulse, Chris Bell and Gary Paulsen. It made all the difference.

Kuni bounces back into a tie early in the third quarter when Mike McCurdy scored on a quarterback "draw" and then scored the 18-8.

kickoff Kuni started back — Pat Thiel's long run carried to the Buhl 20-yard line and on the first play of the fourth period, Kelly Adams bulldozed in front of the two-point conversion.

Buhl ate up several minutes of the fourth period in getting the clinching points. Austin Meltsner provided a lot of tough yardage in the drive that regained the lead for the Indians and the game settled down to a slugfest.

Late in the half Buhl finally got on the scoreboard when Schmeckpeper hit Hulse on a five-yard scoring strike — Hulse' fifth reception of the half. Bell finally ended it all with a six-yard burst and Clayton took a pitchout for the two-point conversion.

Immediately after the

Buhl ate up several minutes of the fourth period in getting the clinching points. Austin Meltsner got some tough inside yardage while Bell ran in with a 16-yard sprint on a quick opener, and then caught a 12-yard pass. Schmeckpeper sneaked in from the one and after a 25-yard penalty, Reynolds threw out the hold to Bell for an 18-yard two-point conversion.

With about three minutes left, senior Randy West set up the insurance points by picking off a Pilot pass and returning it about 40 yards to the Pilot 15. Three plays later Allen went across from the eight and sophomore Scott Pancheri got the two-pointer.

Four superstars remain to rescue open from 'tourney of faceless'

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — With the pretenders to the title of U.S. Open Champion having been laid to rest in the dust of the West Side Tennis Club, it was left to superstars like Jimmy Connors, Chris Evert, Bjorn Borg and Evonne Goolagong Cawley to rescue the $416,600 championships. Saturday saw from becoming a tournament of faceless people.

It wasn't even that easy for Borg, Connors and Cawley, but class finally prevailed and Connors, the 1971 champion, is through to the fourth round, and Borg, the reigning Wimbledon and WCT champ, is in the third round.

Borg could easily have gone the way of Arthur Ashe, Adriano Panatta and the other seeds who failed to survive the first and second rounds, but he came through in the clutch, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6, to defeat Jaime Fillol of Chile.

Connors, without a major championship since his victory here in '74, was obliged to save a set point against Fred McNair of Chevy Chase, Md., before defeating him 7-5, 6-3.

Evert, playing her first competitive singles match since beating Cawley in the Wimbledon final last July, showed ill effects from the hand injury which kept her out of last week's Federation Cup in Philadelphia, by defeating Greer Stevens of South Africa, 6-1, 6-4, to reach the third round. Evonne who is now a round ahead of her, Beat Regina Marikova of Czechoslovakia, 7-6, 6-4.

Stan Smith, the 1971 champion and 12th seed, also moved into the third round with a 6-4, 6-1, win over Terry Moor of Monroe, La., while Vitas Gerulaitis, the 16th seed, became the first man to qualify for the fourth round with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, win over Yugoslavia's Zeljko Franulovic.

Joning Gerulaitis in the fourth round were third-seeded Guillermo Vilas, who defeated Kelli Johnson when the Swede retired with a back injury after losing the first set, 6-3; 11th-seeded Roscoe Tanner, a 6-2, 6-2, victor over Kim Warwick of Australia; Russia's Taimuraz Kukulka, who beat John Yull of South Africa, Friday's conqueror of 13th-seeded Corrado Barazzutti, 6-7, 7-6, 6-3, and Jan Kodes, the '73 Wimbledon champion who has twice been runner-up here, who defeated Cliff Richey, 6-2, 7-5. Kodes eliminated seventh-seeded Arthur Ashe on Friday.

Billy Martin, first round victor over 10th-seeded Harold Solomon, was stopped short, 6-3, 6-3, by Trey Walkie of St. Louis in a second round match.

In the women's division, fifth-seeded Nancy Richey was upset, 3-6, 7-6, 7-5, by Virginia Ruiz of Romania.

Sue Barker, the reigning French champion and ninth seed, from Britain, defeated Sharon Walsh of Mill Valley, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, but Julie Anthony and Laura Dupont, first round winners over seeded players, both failed to survive the second round.

Ant Klimova of San Mateo, Calif., defeated

Dupont, 6-3, 6-2, and Marcie Leder of San Francisco beat Anthony, a member of the CBS-TV broadcasting team at the Championships, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

Zenda Liess of Daytona Beach, Fla., moved into the third round when Kerry Reid, the seventh seed from Australia, defaulted after spraining her right ankle with the score tied at 5-all in the first set.

Natalya Chumova, the Russian junior champion, moved into the fourth round with a 6-2, 6-3, win over Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova.

Borg said he thought he was booked for an early exit when he fell behind, 2-5, in the third set and when he trailed love-30 in the 12th game. "I thought to myself, you're blown it."

"But I calmed myself with the thought Jamie always gets nervous when he's ahead. I've seen it happen before and it happened again today. I made some winners and that restored my confidence."

Fillol, 30, who reached the quarterfinals here last year without being seeded, admitted he let the matelaship.

The third set opened with the Borg breaking service, but suddenly it was 5-2 in favor of Fillol. Borg held service to 5-3 and in the ninth game, with Fillol serving for the match, broke the Chilean at love.

In the next game, Borg trailed love-30 on service, falling behind with two careless errors.

WIMBLEDON CHAMPION Bjorn Borg bears down against Jaime Fillol en route to a tough 4-6, 7-6, 7-5 victory in the U.S. open tennis championships Saturday. (UPI telephoto)

New state trespassing law requires hunters' attention

By STU MURRELL

Regional Staff Conservallionist

Do ask permission before hunting on private land.

There was a new trespass law passed by the 1976 state legislature which states "it is a misdemeanor to trespass on private property, that is marked with 'no trespassing' or similar signs every 660 feet."

It also says the landowner to post only certain points of access if they are the main entry points to that property. Another section provides that a person must leave immediately upon notification that he is trespassing even though the property is not adequately posted with a sign every 660 feet.

A person is also guilty of a misdemeanor if he willfully leaves a gate open or damages cultivated crops. A misdemeanor conviction can result in a fine from $25 to $300 and/or a jail sentence not exceeding 6 months.

Don't be a vandal with a gun. Shooting holes in highway signs, mailboxes and knocking insulators from power poles only provides more impetus to the anti-gun/anti-hunting movement. I suspect some of the loudest critics against gun control are raised by those very people who are creating a poor image of the gun owner by being a gun vandal.

Do treat the landowner's property as if it were your own. Littering, blocking access roads with your car, pepperizing the nearby buildings or livestock with shot and road hunting are all common complaints of landowners in Region 4.

Don't be a game law violator. The tremendous increase in our human population accompanied by a corresponding increase in hunting pressure, makes each game animal or bird that much more valuable. We are long past the time when a few hunters can log the game. If you observe a violation, report the vehicle number, description of people involved and other helpful information to the nearest conservation officer or sheriff's department.

Do be an ethical hunter. The golden rule of "do unto others as you would have others do unto you" is a great one for the hunter. Common courtesy calls for people to space themselves properly in a hunting area. Don't go around in front of another party. Use a dog or help retrieve wounded birds and further the enjoyment of your hunt. Support good conservation practices that benefit the environment and wildlife. Get involved in such sportsman's organizations as Ducks Unlimited and the National Wildlife Federation.

Sportsmen's contributions to wildlife conservation soar

By ROYCE WILLIAMS

Idaho Department of Fish and Game

In the time it takes to read this article, hunters and fishermen will have contributed over $2,500 to conservation of fish and wildlife.

In a year these same hunters and fishermen will pour $250 million into research, management and habitat improvements for the wildlife and fish they consider game.

On September 25 the sportsmen of the country will pat themselves on the back for having contributed nearly $5 billion to conservation and wildlife management over the past 50 years.

"I think these are things the general public should know about, and I hope I can help spread that word as National Hunting and Fishing Day chairman," says Johnny Miller, known to most people as a man who finishes a lot of golf rounds in the 60's.

National Hunting and Fishing Day is in its fifth year and has gained the support of over 40 national conservation organizations. Through a self-imposed tax on fishing equipment and sporting arms and ammunition, hunters and fishermen across the nation have:

— Boosted Idaho's game management and research by $1.1 million and fisheries programs by $35,000 last year.

— Increased the number of deer in the United States from an estimated 500,000 in 1950 to 13 million today.

— Increased, by five times the nation's elk population in the last 60 years—the antelope population by seven times.

— Increased the number of wild turkeys from 100,000 in 1952 to today's 1.2 million birds.

— Made possible the purchase of about 3 million acres of refuges, wintering ranges, wetlands and public hunting areas across the country.

— Developed wildlife habitat on privately owned lands to the tune of $100 million each year.

— Pumped over $1 billion annually into the nation's economy.

— Raised about $140 million through duck stamp purchases since that program started in 1933. Today, duck stamps raise about $11 million a year.

NAU drops International

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — Senior Tailback Al DeGrafe ran for a pair of touchdowns and twin-juried double field goals to lead Northern Arizona University to a 20-0 win over U.S. International University in the season opener for both clubs Saturday.

It was the Lumberjacks' first shutout in five years and broke a nine-game losing streak that dated back to the 1973 season opener.

DeGrafe came off the bench in the second quarter and picked up 100 yards as well as touchdowns on runs of 12 and 3 yards.

Jurich had field goals of 21 and 34 yards in the fourth quarter to tie a school record for the most field goals in one game. The record was set by Sonny Campbell in 1969 and has been tied six other times, including once by Jurich last season.

Who gets the old washer?

This was the question I put to my mother after seeing the outdoor cooking grill made from an old Maytag washer lid.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Garvin, Twin Falls, have one made not only for open fires, but for placing on a ready-made fireplace.

You can also use it on your gas stove.

As you can see in the picture, the lid has a 1/4" rod running through the hinge part and to this is attached a wall brace. This is then mounted on a stand which fits over the fire by way of a V-brace made to stand it upon.

You may move the grill up or down with the use of the notches cut into the angle-iron.

Or you can take the grill off the stand for use on fireplaces or gas stoves.

Mrs. Garvin said you must "curl" the lid a few times before using. She scours the lid with SOS pads and then places the lid in the oven with bacon fat or ham fat and salt and gets the lid hot. Repeat a couple of times and you are ready to grill your steaks, cook breakfast all at one time, without the bacon-and-eggs-getting cold before the hotcakes are ready.

Also large enough for a family.

Mr. Garvin thinks all Maytag lids before 1950 will serve as a grill. QUESTIONS: Call 734-5845 and Mr. Garvin will give advice, including changes he would make in his own design.

South Carolina avenges loss

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) —

Split and Philip Logan jumped on a Jose Bell, in the Appalachian State end zone Saturday night to break a 3-3 tie in the second quarter and South Carolina went on to post a 21-10 victory.

It was sweet revenge for the Gamecocks, who saw Appalachian State, a member of the Southern Conference, ruin their chances for an upset victory to one of the most prestigious bowl games last year with a 39-34 upset.

The extra point attempt was no good, and the Gamecocks led 9-3. South Carolina got its second touchdown of the game, with 6:43 to go in the first half when Bass hit senior flanker game with 1:59 to play in the first quarter with a 33-yard field goal by Gary Davis, but the Mountaineer hopes for a second upset were short-lived.

On its first possession of the second quarter, South Carolina drove to the Appalachian State seven-yard line. Bass hit Williams with a short pass, and Williams got to the one-yard line, but fumbled the ball when he was hit. Logan jumped on it for the score.

The extra point attempt was no good, and the Gamecocks led 9-3. South Carolina got its second touchdown of the game, with 6:43 to go in the first half when Bass hit senior flanker Stevie Stephens for a nine-yard scoring play. Bass missed a two-point conversion pass and the score was 15-13 at the end of the half.

The South Carolina attack was fed by quarterback Ron Bass and running backs Kevin Long and Clarence Williams. Long finished the game with 83 yards rushing while Williams had 94 yards.

South Carolina scored first when sophomore place kicker Britt Parrish hit a 22-yard field goal with 8:38 to play in the first quarter. The Gamecocks had driven all the way to the Mountaineer five but had to settle for the field goal when Bass, who had some difficulty with his passing throughout the game, threw the ball out of the end zone.

N.C. upsets Miami 14-10

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI)

Junior wingback Mel Collins scored two touchdowns Saturday, one of them on a surprise play, good for 68 yards, to lead North Carolina to a 14-10 upset victory in the season opener against Miami.

of Old:

The Tar Heels were trailing 3-0 in the second quarter when sophomore Bernie Manopace faked an injury. Then, while the Redskins huddled with their backs to the ball, Manopace grabbed the ball and dashed it to Collins who rambled 62 yards for the score. Tom Biddle added the extra point to give North Carolina a 7-3 lead with 3:13 left.

North Carolina coach Bill Dooley said he advised officials before the game that the unauthorized play would be used. He said his staff had "instructed Miami's attack to the half defensive line," and Dooley added, "I think they surprised us." The Redskins retaliated with a 50-yard march-in-nine plays capped by a one-yard scoring plunge by fullback Tom Zwyer just as the half ended. Johnson added the extra point to give the Redskins a 7-7 lead.

It was a see-saw battle in the third quarter with the only scoring threat ending when Tar Heel middle guard Roger Shanks blocked a 37-yard field goal attempt by Johnson.

Mississippi State edges North Texas

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Quarterback Bruce Threadgill connected on a 31-yard scoring pass to Robert Chapman in the final quarter Saturday to boost Mississippi State to a 7-6 win over North Texas State in a rain-plagued season opener for both teams.

The crucial pass came with only 6:22 remaining in an inter-sectional battle hampered by a drenching thundershower, and highlighted by rugged defensive play.

Bulldog coach Bob Tyler unveiled a new wishbone offense, as expected, to inaugurate the season but neither team could muster a major burst until late in the rainy afternoon. State took over at its own 27 and Threadgill hit on two long passes — a 22-yarder to Gavin Rees followed by the 31-yard bomb to Chapman in the end zone. Kenny Jordan added the extra point.

Steve Lobell wins 4-heat Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UPI) — Steve Lobell, shooting for a triple crown, fought off injuries and a last-minute scare Saturday to win trotting racing's richest jewel, the Hambletonian, in a close three-horse battle with Ambro Regina, only filly in the field, and unheraled Zool Sult before a crowd of 14,000.

Zool Sult finished third but was placed second by the judges after considering an interference call. Ambro Regina was placed third.

The winning time in the fourth heat was 2:02.25, far slower than Steve Lobell's record-setting second heat victory of 1:56.25. He now shares the fastest mile for 3-year-old trotters with Super Bowl who set the standard in the 1972 Hambletonian.

Steve Lobell, trained Ambro Regina until just past the three-quarter mark when the colt began to overheat the filly. The three horses were bundled going into the stretch when Steve Lobell moved up on the outside to win about a half-length. The other two were neck-and-neck with Ambro Regina slightly ahead at the finish. But Zool Sult was given second place on the interference call.

The victory was worth $131,762 to Steve Lobell, and set him up for a possible trotter triple crown following his earlier victory in the Yonkers Trot.

But the victory came hard. Steve Lobell threw a shoe in the first heat and finished disappointing 14th. In the third heat, he suffered a cut leg and for a time was a doubtful starter in the final heat.

The second place finish was worth $65,881 to Zool Sult and his owners: Cleaview Stables of New Canaan, Conn., and $31,622 to Ambro Regina's Canadian owners, the Armstrong Brothers of Brampton, Ontario.

Daring Pride took fourth and a $21,081 payout and Quicks Pay was fifth with $13,176, on the basis of their finishes in the first three heats.

Steve Lobell's owners are Richard Herman, a New York attorney, and Murray Siegel, a Sheepshed Bay, N.Y. restaurant owner. He races out of Mill Island Stable, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Steve Lobell, at 7-5, paid $48.00 in the fourth heat, the only payoff in the three-horse heat.

Driver Haughton, 52, winner of the Hambletonian in 1974 with Christopher T, said this was his 16th try at the premier trotting crown and he had some objections to the way it was handled.

Morehead downs Marshall

MOREHEAD, Ky. (UPI) — Oscar Jones scored two touchdowns to make the debut of new head coach Wayne Chapman successful Saturday by leading Morehead University to a 31-14 triumph over Marshall.

Jones' first TD came on a four-yard run and capped a nine-play, 63-yard drive with 13:51 left in the half and his second came on a seven-yard run, ending a three-play, 24-yard drive that started with Greg Bright's interception of a Marshall fumble.

Quarterback Bill Simms scored from five yards out with 12:48 left in the fourth quarter and Simms then hit end Veltmar Miller for a 19-yard score with 7:19 to go in the game.

The Thundering Herd came back and scored twice in the fourth quarter, the first TD coming when quarterback Bud Nelson ill running back Ray Crisp for a 15-yard tally. Nelson snaked over from the one with 2:31 to go in the game.

September frosts usual

KIMBERLY—Frost or freezing temperatures usually strike Idaho's agricultural valleys during September, statistics from the past 30 years show.

Maurie Faubion of the National Weather Service Office for Agriculture said frosts or freezing temperatures usually occur during the last half of the month from the Magic Valley into southwestern Idaho. Average dates for the first freezing temperatures include Rupert, Sept. 24; Twin Falls, Sept. 21 and Aberdeen. Experiment Station Sept. 15 but can vary as much as three weeks on either side of those dates.

Faubion said precipitation statistics show that the first 10 to 14 days of the month are usually fairly dry—but about mid-september a week or so of wet weather produces a quarter-to-half-an-inch of rain. That is followed by fairly dry conditions the rest of September.

Long-range prospects for September prepared by the weather service place Idaho in a zone of near normal temperatures—with above median precipitation.

IF lambs decline

IDAHO FALLS—Fut range lambs were 100 lower at the Idaho Livestock Auction this past week.

Feeder prices were steady and ranch lambs were 10, 10, 1.00 to 2.00 lower. An estimated 3,650 sheep, 180 hogs and 1,650 cattle were sold.

Choke range fat lambs brought 39.00-40.00; range feeder lambs 42.00-43.50; ranch fat lambs 37.50-38.50; ranch feeder lambs 37.00-39.00; odd rough feeder lambs 39.00 and down; light fat ewes 11.00-12.00; cauter ewes and bucks 7.50-11.00; young breeding ewes up to 50.00 per head.

Extreme top on hogs was

US farm policy shifting tack

By BART QUESNEL

Times-News writer
SUN VALLEY—Government policy has shifted from price supports and regulation to a freer, non-supported approach, a federal interstate commerce commissioner.

In remarks before the Idaho Grower-Shippers Association convention, Daniel O'Neal said, "National economic policy with respect to intercity transportation seems to be moving away from regulation and toward a greater reliance on market forces."

The Nixon Administration recently submitted proposed legislation which would significantly lessen regulation reflects a clear Congressional intent to rely on competitive forces to regulate rates, where those forces can do the job," O'Neal said.

O'Neal, who calls the new legislation the 4-R Act, said growers and shippers should be alerted to the effects of the new act.

"My point is that the railroads seem to feel that their services on agricultural commodities are under-priced, and they seem to want to do something about it," he said.

"And the 4-R Act does give the railroads more freedom, within limits, to adjust their rates without the ICC having the power to intervene."

About 45 percent of Idaho's potato shipments are made by rail, O'Neal said.

The new legislation provides that no rate which contributes or would contribute to the "going concern value" of the carrier may be found unreasonably low, O'Neal said.

The 4-R Act presumes that a rate contributes to the growing concern value of the railroad when that rate produces revenue which equals or exceeds the cost of providing the service.

"On the other extreme," O'Neal said, "before the commission may find that any rate is too high, it must first find that the railroad has market dominance over the service rate is too high."

Under the law creating the act, the ICC must establish standards by Oct. 4 this year to serve as guides for determining when and if a carrier possesses market dominance of a service at a particular rate.

O'Neal said, "A finding that a carrier does not have market dominance over a particular service eliminates ICC power to suspend on the basis that the rate is too high."

The act now allows railroads to increase or reduce individual rates by seven percent or less each year, he said.

"This provision only applies to rate changes filed within two years of the date of enactment which are not of general applicability," he said.

The ICC can still suspend rates, O'Neal said, if they are found to be discriminatory, prejudicial or if carriers charge excessive fares for short haul traffic in the long-haul.

Destructive competitive practices will remain unlawful, he said.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is your day to get in touch with whomever you like and as easily as possible to let him or her know of your true friendship and feelings. You reap the reward that would follow such a positive and friendly course of action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Daytime is best for enjoying good pals and showing them your true devotion. Avoid one who could give you a good deal of trouble.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how to gain more prestige in the world of activity during the morning. Later, take part in some philanthropic work. Evening is best for handling small chores.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Work on those ideas that will bring you peace of mind and have more harmony at home and elsewhere. Avoid trouble of any kind.

MONS CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Trust your intuition today; it could lead you in right channels for a better life. Show more your true affection and be happier. Be wary of strangers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good day to meet socially with associates and come to a better understanding. Try to see the views of others. Avoid one who is after your assets.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Good day to do something thoughtful for those who have done you many favors in the past. Show others that you are a most sensible person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan recreating early. Take care you do not overspend. The new week's work can be planned before you retire for the night.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Analyze well whatever is causing tension at home and get rid of improper conditions. Formulate some plan that will make the future brighter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend some religious service that elevates your consciousness and helps you to live a more ideal life in the future. Visit friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan to use more modern means where your financial and material affairs are concerned if you want to have better results in the future. Listen to what an expert has to suggest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can handle personal matters effectively provided you get an early start on them.

Making new contacts can prove very helpful in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Meditating and reflecting upon what is most vital to you is wise today, but use good judgment as well as intuition. Show that you are an alert and open-minded person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . she will be one of those persons who can comprehend others and what their needs and wants are. Start education along service lines, such as personnel, law, philanthropic work and the like. Give an opportunity to have many friends around, for best results, but screen them well.

FAVORITE PRAYER

"What's your favorite prayer?" inquires a customer. Depends. Varying from the favorite prayer of the moment is: "You say my assignment today, Lord, is how out the baggage?" Last week's favorite was: "You were very patient with me, Lord, in that hard-cider incident. Appreciate it."

Where should you take your animal?

By LINDA MERRY DVM

Questions: We're newly transplanted to the West from Pennsylvania. As we traveled we noticed many veterinary offices and began to wonder why some were named hospitals, others clinics and some were health or medical centers. From the outside, at least, we couldn't see the difference.

When we started reading our paper here we discovered our column and thought it would be interesting to ask if the names really mean anything or are they just names the owners chose?

Answer: The name of a veterinary hospital facility should certainly be a sign of what you can expect to find inside. Both the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) and the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA) have agreed on written recommendations and definitions of the names applied to veterinary practices:

A veterinary or animal medical center is defined as a facility in which consultative, clinical, and hospital services are rendered and in which a large staff of basic and applied veterinary scientists perform significant research and conduct advanced professional educational programs.

A veterinary or animal clinic is defined as a facility in which the practice conducted, that may explain why there are only a few pedigree salsimizines or "Shih-Tzu" left in the world-to represent-the Western Hemisphere's oldest breed-at dog." Those that remain are in the possession of Princesses del Burgo, Real president of the Mexican Kennel Club, who exhibits them in dog shows.

Busy donors donate

TWIN FALLS — The Busy Donors 4-H Club members raised $10.50 from baby-sitting and donated it to the Magic Valley Easter Seal Center. President Cindy Eisenhauer took the money to the center.

Merie Stoddard of the Magic Valley Easter Seal Center expressed appreciation to the group and said the money would be used to help run the center, which helps people with speech, hearing and motor coordination problems.

FFA members must enter by tomorrow

FILER — Future Farmers of America will have produce and livestock on the Twin Falls County fairgrounds by 6 p.m. Monday.

F. V. Morrison, Murtaugh superintendent, will be assisted by Max Rector, Castleford, and Ken Terry, Castleford.

Entries are limited to FFA members in Twin Falls County. The Filer Agriculture teacher will be in charge of the judging contest; the Murtaugh teacher in charge of exhibits; Twin Falls, sheep and swine; Butch, dairy and beef—Castleford, cattle; the produce booth, Kimball, fitting and showing, and Filer, horses.

The FFA fitting and showing contest will be divided into senior and junior divisions. Farm Service, Inc., Kimberly will present a special award to the grand champion fitting and showing round robin in both divisions.

He appeared in the dining room also as the main course. Those that remain are in the possession of Princesses del Burgo, Real president of the Mexican Kennel Club, who exhibits them in dog shows.

George Hansen, Itasca Tuesday was selected to receive the "Guardian of Small Business" award of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB).

The announcement was made by James D. McKevitt, Washington counsel for "Life" magazine's new organization. The presentation FFA members also will exhibit crops and these must be grown on a farm owned or rented by himself and raised as his own project.

Premiums will be paid for 17 classes of garden exhibits: 12 of field crops; four of small grains and seeds; and five of livestock feeds. The Almondquist Sugar Company gives special awards for sugar beets.

Livestock exhibits will include sheep, goats, swine, dairy cattle, beef breeding and horses. Poultry classes include chicken, turkeys, geese, ducks and rabbits.

The Idaho Cattlemen's Association will present a silver belt buckle for the outstanding beef project and the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association has a special award for beef breeding project. Charolais, Angus, Jersey Holstein-Kirolian and Guernsey cattle clubs also have special awards.

Electric vehicles

may ease problem

DUSSELDORF, Germany — Electric vehicles present "one of the few realistic solutions to the transportation problems of today's cities, a solution which is both innovative and clean," according to Sen. Jim McClure, R-Idaho.

Speaking to delegates at the fourth International Electrical Vehicle Symposium in Dusseldorf, McClure, a member of the National Fuels and Energy Policy Study staff in the Senate Interior Committee, said, "It would be a serious mistake to delay electric vehicle production until the battery of the future is ready."

"Those who refuse to listen to reasonable remarks about electric vehicles like to picture people making coast-to-coast ventures in something powered with batteries," he continued. "They don't listen to our assertions that what we are trying to get them to picture is an urban area with people going to work and to school, taking deliveries, shopping and keeping ap-

LEGAL NOTICE

The City of Kellogg and the Sun Valley Water and Sewer District have jointly petitioned the Department of Health and Welfare to allow a discharge of treated effluent.

DISCHARGE LIMITS for the Kellogg wastewater treatment facility. The limits proposed by the NPDES discharge permit are based on the State of Idaho water-quality standards and the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) treatment requirements proposed by the Environmental and Community Services Board of Health and Welfare.

Basically, the antidegradation standard requires that the water quality of the stream be lowered as little as possible unless and until it has been demonstrated that such change is justified as a result of necessary economic development without detriment and will not interfere with or become incompatible with any protected uses.

In addition, it is required that any industrial point or private project will not contribute to an increased source of water pollution, will be required to provide highflow bypasses and emergency treatment available under existing technology.

A report prepared by Parsons, Inc. (May 1976) indicates there would be a major negative impact on local economic development in Blaine County if the Kellogg STP discharge limits are maintained at the levels established in the NPDES permit. The report states that "disallowing the County to grow will result in the loss of jobs and revenue and a reduction in economic activity".

The additional statements are made: "The NPDES discharge permit assesses values of undeveloped property would force higher taxes on property owners. This would create financial burdens and costs of direct taxes and some of the lower income families. Overall the low-income families in Blaine County families would be the most negatively affected by a moratorium of growth."

The petition by Kellogg and Sun Valley Water and Sewer District presents discharge limits as follows:

NPDES Permit BODs-lbs/24 hr. suspended solids-lbs/24 hr. Total phosphorus-lb/day 40.

Reduced by: Parisons, Inc. 1976-77. Solid waste 1976-77. Ammonia as Nitrogen-lb/day 94. Total Nitrogen-lb/day 334.

Ride 'em, cowboy!

ALEXANDER is one of a dozen top cowboys who will be at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds for five nights of rodeo in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair. Rodeo action begins Tuesday.

TF Fair theme: 'We the People'

By MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News writer

FILER — This year the

Twin Falls County Fair is celebrating not only the country's bicentennial, but also the 60th birthday anniversary of the fair. Exhibits and displays will stress the fair theme "We the People" and decorations in red, white and blue will predominate.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the fair, recently said, "Our county fair is one of the few in the land that still retains its true country image and has not gone commercial like so many others." The event grows bigger every year.

Each fair, the board members try to attain a larger attendance number than the previous year and nearly every year it is reached. Last year they aimed for a 70,000 attendance for the four days and went over their mark. This year they have put their sights on a total attendance of 75,000 during the five days, officials said.

Tuesday, Sept. 7, is judging day and this year for the first time a rodeo performance has been scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Wednesday, Sept. 8, is

East End Day for the residents of Murtough,

Hansen and Kimberly.

Thursday, Sept. 9, is Twin Falls Day and usually the largest day of the fair.

Friday, Sept. 10 is West

End Day for the area towns of Cascade, Buhr and Filer.

Saturday, Sept. 11 is the traditional Grand Finals

Day.

The fair board expects spectators to be on hand at 8 a.m. each morning when the American flag is raised by a color guard of the

Post.

The flag will fly high over the entire fairgrounds each day and will be ceremoniously lowered each day at 5 p.m.

Judging of most exhibits will have been completed

by Tuesday afternoon and the blue, red and white

fairgoers to see when they

The fair actually began

Saturday when entries in antiques, livestock feed home arts, kitchen and pantry came in.

Art and craft entries were completed for judging

Entries in home arts, kitchen and pantry, youth and antiques will continue coming in today. Monday will see all livestock, except horses, on the grounds and ready for Tuesday's judging.

The dogs in the dog show will be judged at 1 p.m.

The Sunday and the public is invited to watch.

Tuesday evening's rodeo will feature Red Steagall and his country band, as well as the fast-moving stock of producer Colton

Rosser, and an impressive

openning number.

Special clown and animal acts will be featured during the rodeo events.

On the midway the

have 27 rides for an afternoon entertainment.

Booths for food, seating, merchant displays, free afternoon

entertainment, all will be there to make each day enjoyable for all ages.

Wednesday will see the first-of-the-month cattle shows as well as horse

events, 4-H livestock contests and judging. Most of the thousand or more 4-H club members in Magic Valley will assemble prior to Wednesday evening's rodeo for their entry into the rodeo grounds.

Friday's entertainment will include the Miss Rodeo Idaho, queen horsemanship at 2

p.m. in the lower arena.

crowned on Saturday night

by Betty Schell-Roger

and reigning Miss Rodeo

Idaho and Miss Rodeo

America.

Saturday morning will see the 4-H and FFA fat stock sale scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. A free horse show will take place from noon to 1 p.m.

The Old Time Fiddlers will play in the band stand at 2

p.m. in the lower arena.

Saturday evening's rodeo will feature the 4-H and FFA club members.

The new queen will be crowned on Saturday night

by Betty Schell-Roger

and reigning Miss Rodeo

America.

Fair Board estimates 1000 kids belong to Magic Valley 4-H Clubs

By MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News writer

FILER — Twin Falls County Fair Board officials estimate that this year there are approximately 1000 young people in Magic Valley who are members of 4-H Clubs.

Each year new projects are offered to young people besides the familiar ones of livestock, home economics and hobbies.

Mrs. Elwood McCauley, Filer, is superintendent of the 4-H Clubs and her assistants are Mrs. Frank Skinner, Filer and George Southerwick, Buhr, who is also advisor of the Builders Club which consists of older 4-H Club members.

They are assisted by Celia Black, extension agent, in 4-H home economics projects; William Hazen, extension agent, livestock and miscellaneous projects, and Donald Youtz, Twin Falls county extension agent.

Supervisors of the various 4-H departments are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner, Filer and George

David Bohr, Prier, clothing; Mrs. R. A. Childers, Filer, feed and food preservation; Mrs. Tom Payne, Twin Falls, style review; and home economics judging contest; Mrs. Frank Southerwick, demonstration, and Donna Staley, sheep.

Justin Mills, Twin Falls, swine; Twin Falls County Teen leaders, poultry and rabbits; Roger Newton, and Leonard Fisher, Kimberly, sheep.

Besides the premiums and ribbons awarded by the fair board, 4-H club members can compete for a number of special awards given by individuals and organizations in the area.

highlight fair

By MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News writer

FILER — Rodeos are so popular in Twin Falls County this year the county fair board has added another night rodeo action.

A rodeo performance will be presented live at the Twin Falls County Fair

beginning Sept. 7 through

Sep. 11 so more people will be given a chance to view this sport. Last year's final night of the rodeo played to a capacity crowd with some people turned away because of lack of seating.

The first rodeos were an outgrowth of the great cattle drives more than a hundred years ago. The only entertainment offered the cowboys riding the trails for months at a time were the few leisure moments which they filled with roping contests and impromptu bronc riding.

Massachusetts.

The association was so named, because according to one cowboy, "We was slow as turtles doin' somethin' like this."

In 1945 the CTA was renamed the Rodeo Cowboys Association, and recently the name was changed to Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. Last year the a record $6 million in prize money.

"Rodeo is gainin' in popularity because people believe they are one of the best forms of family entertainment in the nation," said Dale Smith, president of the PRCA, Chandler, Ariz.

Every P.R.C.A.-sanctioned rodeo has five standard events, three bucking or "rough-stock" contests, and two timed events.

The bareback bronc riding is usually the first event at a rodeo. Bareback riding, along with saddle bronc riding and bull riding, is an eight-second contest, which means the cowboys have eight seconds from the time the animals leave the chutes in which to demonstrate their ability on their mounts.

Saddle bronc riding requires the use of a special saddle and is considered the classic event in rodeo.

"Steppin' in the saddle requires more balance and timing than sheer strength, and bronc-riders are disqualified if they let one foot slip out of the stirrup.

Bull riding, usually the last event at a rodeo, is considered by many to be the most dangerous and most exciting of all the sport events.

A cowboy mounts a bull weighing close to a ton, and tries to ride the animal with one hand firmly attached to a rope encircling the bull behind his shoulders.

The highest scored ride in rodeo was made in bull riding in 1974 when former bull-riding champ, John Quintana, Redmond, Ore., rode a bull for 96 points.

Steers
for sale

FAT steers like this specimen from last year's Twin Falls County Fair will go on sale Saturday to the public. 4-H members in Twin Falls County will sell their projects on the final day of the fair. The sale is planned in the livestock arena.

Antique exhibit buildings gets facelift

FILER — The Antique building at the fair was enlarged and remodeled this summer and will now have space for a great many more displays.

The building was enlarged by adding approximately 40 feet to the west, closing up the windows and paneling the walls, adding new flooring, and putting in new tiered shelves for exhibits. The outside of the building has been painted a light turquoise.

Mrs. Willis Ruth Hanson and Mrs. Marjorie Davis, Filer, are both superintendents of this department. Entries may be made from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and from 8 a.m. till noon Monday. Judging will begin early Tuesday, and release of items will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7-9 p.m. Sept. 13.

The antique department has a total of 453 classes covering a large variety of antiques, heirlooms and collectors' items.

On display will be clocks, musical instruments, photographs and albums, tobacco jars and writing boxes. There is a division for Bibles, books and pictures, and one for clothing and cloth of former years.

Collectors' items are not antiques but are articles no longer being made and therefore in great demand. These include bottles, glass, Kipton and Noritake china, Roseville pottery, and many others. A total of ten entries in each of these classes will be accepted.

Largest division is that of the porcelain, clima and earthenware. Old furniture will be on display, as well as photographs, trunks and typewriters. Glass articles include carnival, cut glass, milk glass and clear glass items. The colored glass section includes art glass, cranberry, custard, rubina, amberina and many others of exquisite colored ware.

Many types of pattern glass will be shown, as well as jewelry, lattice articles, metal articles, tack and toys and games.

A Best of Show will be named by the judges.

Re-modeled

THE newly-remodeled antique building at the fair will be able to hold many more exhibits this year due to extensive remodeling during the summer. The building was lengthened, new flooring put in, the windows in back and sides closed up and new paneling added.

strange arena — the human self — and illustrates what Erikson calls the eight stages of human development and what we call life. The music was composed and conducted by William Russo and features musicians Dizzy Gillespie, Larry Adler and Benny Carter. Colist Pablo Casals is heard on the sound track, as are the voices of such other notables as Lou Jacobi, Jack Gilford, Alvin Epstein, Deedee Bridgewater and Juanita Moore (90 Min.)

COME TO THE F A I R Litton microwave the modern way to cook

650

The newest Litton combination microwave range lets you select the one best way to cook your favorite foods better. The combination of microwave and conventional cooking is better than just conventional cooking because microwaves penetrate and cook the food quickly and the conventional heat browns in crispness. It saves time and electric energy, too. Model 650 lets you cook on the one-piece smoothtop that's easy to clean and keeps spills from dripping away.

JOYCE MYRICK

Litton Home Economist will be demonstrating Microwave Cooking Thursday and Friday, August 9 & 10, in our fair booth.

MODEL

You'll fall in love with the Litton 418 because it takes the guess-work out of microwave cooking. It features the new Vari-Temp® automatic food temperature control. You simply preset the temperature control to the degree of doneness you want and the Litton 418 does the rest. Automatically cooks and shuts off.

Swine, hogs at fair

FILER — Fairgoers visiting the swine department of the Twin Falls County Fair will be able to view six breeds of swine, as well as the market hog class.

Justin Mills, supervisor, and Wade Wells, Boise, will serve as judge.

Judging will begin at 9 a.m., Sept. 7 for 16 classes of Durc, Poland China, Berkshire, Yorkshire, Hampshire and Chester White. The grand champion boar of each will receive a banner with rosettes going to grand champion boar and sow, and purple ribbons to reserve champion boars and sows.

Animals for the market hog class may be either purebred, grade or crossbred barrows. Each breed is judged separately for ribbons with overall judging in each weight class for top four winners and grand champion ribbons.

The Hampshire Swine Registry and American Berkshire Association make trophies available.

Hereford show honors breeder Wayne Naugle

FILER — This year's Bicentennial Big Western Register of Merit (ROM) Hereford Show Friday is being dedicated to a longtime Hereford breeder, Wayne Naugle, Nampa.

This is the fourth year the Twin Falls County Fair is hosting the ROM Hereford Show in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

Naugle first started in the cattle business in 1918 in Minnesota where he raised Angus cattle. He is now in the registered Hereford business with his son Kenneth.

Naugle has served several terms as president of the Idaho Hereford Breeder's Association, and has also served as president of the Northwest Hereford Breeders Association which includes breeders from Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana. He served for several years as a director for the American Hereford Association and was president of the American Hereford Association in 1969.

Through the years, the Naugles have operated a continuing performance record breeding program to upgrade their herd. They have been consistent top exhibitors at sales and shows in Idaho as well as Red Bluff, Calif., Top Cut, Montana; Ogden, Utah and Denver.

Naugle's wife, Margaret, and Linda, and the children of the Kenneth Naugles, Mike and Michelle, have assisted them.

The Naugles also farm 500 acres of mint and potatoes, besides the hay grain and pasture.

necessary to maintain the 250 head cow herd.

Judging for the Big Western Register of Merit Show will begin at 8:05 a.m., Sept. 10. There are 30 classes, with premiums to be awarded in 12 to 20 places. Champions and reserve champions will receive banners, rosettes or purple ribbons.

Cash awaits winning booth

FILER -- A special cash award awaits the booth in the produce department of the Twin Falls County Fair which best emphasizes the theme "We, the People."

Competition is expected to be high this year, as every year, among the Grangers competing for first place trophies for exhibits displaying the best quality of produce and fruits, best artistic arrangement and general appearance and best original arrangement and general appearance of produce, fruit and decorations.

Most Grangers begin planning early in the spring for their fair booths, delegating members to raise certain produce so they can make up a complete exhibit by fair time.

Great attention is given to decorations and backgrounds, and members spend many hours preparing their booths for judging, which takes place the first day of the fair.

Cecil Childs, Buell, again heads this department as superintendent. The four judges this year are Erling Juhannessen, Emmett, Wayne Cole, Burley; Auton Horn, Boise, and Blaine Linford, Twin Falls.

Entries close at 6 p.m. Monday and all community exhibits must be in place for "exhibition Tuesday morning." Community exhibits must be grown within Twin Falls County.

Open class competition for gardeners will consist of 28 classes of vegetables, 20 classes of field crops, six classes of sheep grains and seeds and 10 classes of "largest" specimens.

The Amalgamated Sugar Co. will present awards of sugar for the best sugar beets and largest sugar beets.

Gary Custer, Twin Falls, is supervisor of the livestock feeds display.

Analysis of feeds will be done by Agriculture

Testing and Consultants, Inc., judging in this department will begin at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Junior gardeners, 18 years and under, also will compete for prizes for produce building.

I.T. "Pete" Creed will present a trophy to the best individual vegetable display by a junior gardener.

Young gardeners will have a large class of vegetables in which they can compete for three place prizes and eight classes of largest specimen of vegetable.

Mike Gray heads fair board

FILER -- Mike Gray, Twin Falls, heads the Twin Falls County Fair board as president, and Gary Black, Castleford, is vice president.

Prom Shouse, Filer, is in his twelfth year as secretary-manager of the fair.

Other members of the board include Ben Mottner, Twin Falls; Jay Cobb, Filer; Raymond Johnson, Kimberly; Rob-e-t Breeding, Murtough, and Cecil Childs, Buell.

The board works with the Twin Falls County Commissioners, Merl Leonard, chairman, and William Chancey and Ann S. Cover, both Twin Falls. Superintendents of the various departments of the fair include E. V. Morrison, Merrietta, and forty Nelson Kimberly, Beehive cattle; Justin Mills, Twin Falls; swine; W. E. McCoy, Buell; sheep; Doyle Shriver, Buell, poultry; Bertha Brown, Kimberly, horses; F. V. Morrison, Future Farmers of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner, George Leonard and Gordon Bennett, all Filer, are in charge of the junior division and the 4-H and FFA fat animal show. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mulligan, Jerome, are dog show superintendents. The art show is in charge of the Art Guilds.

Cecil Childs, Buell, is produce and fruits superintendent; Mrs.

Margaret Lincoln and Mrs. Craig Dunlap, Twin Falls, home arts; Willie Ruth Hanson and Mrs. William L. Davis, Elder, antiques; Mrs. Orville Sackett and Mrs. John E. J. G. Amon, Mrs. Clinton Dougherty, Filer kitchen and pantry; Mrs. George Kimmel, Filer, and Mrs. Ed Harper, Buell, flowers; Mrs. Elwood McCauley, Filer, 4-H clubs.

Home arts division popular at fair

FILER -- The home arts division of the Twin Falls County Fair has so many entries this year the chairmen have set three days for exhibitors to enter their articles.

All articles must be the handbook of the exhibitor, and needlework must be made within the last three years. All must be finished articles.

Two night stand

Star performers for two days of the fair will be Red Steagall and his Coleman County Cowboys who will perform on Tuesday and Wednesday, the first two nights of the rodeo.

Presenting modern country music, Steagall lets his whole life, his songs and his performances reflect his love of the land. He was born in Texas and now lives on a working farm in Tennessee where he raises quarter horses.

His country band was put together to pay his way to a degree in agriculture while attending West Texas State College. He also paid his entry fees in rodeos where he rode in more than 60 and failed to make the ten-second ride just once. He spent five years in agro-chemical sales before finally deciding to turn full-time to music.

Horse rides from cake

The large white cake is eight feet high and measures twenty feet in diameter. It is trimmed with large gold eagles. The cake will open up and from the center will appear a pretty girl on a black horse. The girl is Cindy Rosser, daughter of producer, Colton Rosser. When the cake opens up, other riders will appear carrying the flags of many nations. Rosser feels this dramatic opening is a fitting way to observe the country's bicentennial and to honor the people of all backgrounds who make up our nation.

The 4-H Club cake was designed by a man of German ancestry. Cindy's grandparents were Canadian immigrants, the riders and flag carriers will be Scottish, Mexican and French, and the man on the sideslines directing the event was born on an Oklahoma Indian reservation.

Cindy will be riding an American Quarter horse with thoroughly grandparents. Thoroughbreds were originally English and the horse has an Irish name, Paddy.

New display

"WE THE PEOPLE"

LAST year this water wagon which was formerly used to water the streets of Filer and at the fair was given a place of honor at the fairgrounds entrance and the fair theme put on it. This year the theme of "We The People" will greet fairgoers at their arrival at the fair.

4-H club awards presented Sept. 11

By MARGELIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — To a 4-H Club member, the high point of the Twin Falls County Fair is the awards assembly held Sept. 11, the last day of the fair, when all special awards and trophies are presented.

4-H Club members of the county who have completed their project requirements and who are exhibiting their projects and participating in club activities at the fair are eligible to receive premiums provided by the fair.

But there are also a number of awards, scholarships, gift certificates and trophies provided by local business men and organizations and individuals for superior products in club work.

Exhibitors must be present at the awards assembly in the Tom Park Pavilion to receive their awards.

Mrs. Elwood McCauley, Filer, is superintendent of the 4-H Club work assisted by Mrs. Frank Sotwick, Buhi; Builders Club advisor; Celia Black, extension agent in charge of home economics project; William Hazen, extension agent in charge of 4-H livestock and miscellaneous projects, and Donald Youth, county extension agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner and George Leonard, Filer, supervisors of the cattle arena, and Mrs. and Mr. Leo H. Filer, and Mrs. Lee Sharp, Twin Falls, are in charge of horses. The Skinners also have charge of the beef, and Bob Holloway, the dairy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCoy, Buhi, and Leonard Fisher, Kimberly, are supervisors for sheep; the Twin Falls County Teen leaders, poultry and rabbits; Justin Mills, Twin Falls, swine; Donna Staley, dogs and Roger Newton, Twin Falls; Elwood McCauley, Filer, and Dave Schorzman, Twin Falls, tractor driving contests.

The neatest and cleanest livestock exhibit receives a special award, with second and third also receiving plaques. There will be fitting and showing awards for dairy, sheep, swine, beef and horses.

Livestock judging contests will be held as well as around robin contests, horse performance classes, tractor driving contests and agriculture demonstrations.

Top cowboys plan to ride in Filer

FILER — Last year the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association sanctioned 595 rodeos with record prize money amounting to $6,104,913.

A list of rodeo events compiled by the PRCA shows Larry Mahan, most all-around championships (6) and most total money won, $49,698; Jim Shoulders, most world championships (16) and most bull riding championships (7).

Tom Ferguson, most money in one year, $66,929 in 1974; Eddie Workman, most money won in one rodeo, $9,365 at Houston, Texas, in 1976; Joe Alexander, most money won in single event for one year, $41,184 in 1975 and most bareback riding championships.

Casey Tibbs, most saddle bronc championships (6); Dean Oliver, most calf roping championships (8).

Homer Pettigrew, most team roping championships (16); Jim Rodriguez Jr., most team roping championships (4) and youngest world champion, age 18, world champion in 1959; Ike Rudolph, world champion, at age 59, steer roping in 1953; John Quintana, highest scored ride, 96 points at Las Vegas for bull riding in 1974.

FILER — Style shows and home economics demonstrations are important parts of 4-H Club work, not connected with livestock.

Awards will be available for special skills in child development, many classes of sewing, knitting and crocheting, foods for family meals, and entertaining.

Another group includes explorations and new horizons, arts, automotive, business, fashion, hand radio, consumer education, electricity and entomology. Fire safety is a relatively new project proving very popular. Other classes are geology, horticulture, photography, money management, public speaking, snowmobiling,

Cattle important to county fair

By MARGELIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Three days of the Twin Falls County Fair will be devoted to cattle shows with all the best known breeds represented.

Angus, Charolais and Shorthorn Day will be observed Wednesday.

The Polled Hereford and Exotic Breeds, as well as the Junior Hereford Day and the "Open to the World" Steer Show are scheduled for Thursday.

Friday will see another of the "Big Western" Register of Merit Hereford shows.

F. V. Morrison, Murchison, and John Nelson, Kimberly, are superintendents of the beef department at the fair, judges will be Alfred Meeks, Taylor, Nebr., and Gary Minish, Blacksburg, Va.

Aberdeen Angus judging will begin at 8:05 a.m. Wednesday. There will be 17 classes, including rosettes and purple ribbons for champions.

The Junior Angus Show is sponsored by the American Angus Association and the Magic Valley Angus Breeders. Young stockmen will compete in eight classes, with trophies and other awards to be presented by Magic Valley Angus Breeders, Idaho Angus Auxiliary and the Idaho Angus Auxiliary.

Shorthorns will be judged at 5 p.m., Wednesday with premiums listed in 16 classes. There is also a Junior show.

Charolais will be judged at 2 p.m., Wednesday with 13 classes listed for females, and 15 for bulls. Special awards will be given by the American International Charolais Association and the American International Charolais Special Herdsmen.

A Junior Charolais Show is sponsored by the South Central Idaho Charolais Breeders.

Polled Herefords judging will commence at 8:05 a.m. Thursday in 30 classes. Champions will receive rosettes and purple ribbons.

The exotic breed class is a relatively new one but each year more interest is shown in these newer breeds.

Judging will take place at 1 p.m. Thursday. Judging and premiums will be determined by the number of animals entered.

The Northwest Junior Hereford Show will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. It is sponsored by the area Junior Hereford Association, the American Polled Hereford Association and the Twin Falls County Fair Board.

Exhibitors must be members of their respective state Junior Hereford Associations but may become members the day of the show.

Premiums in ten places will be paid for six classes with a champion heifer to receive a rosette and the purple ribbon.

The Register of Merit Hereford Show will begin at 8:05 a.m., Friday with 30 classes and premiums paid from 12 to 20 divisions.

The Idaho Hereford Breeders will present a special award to the Idaho exhibitor with the best six head group, also to the highest placed Idaho heifer. Animals must be bred, raised and owned and shown in an Idaho exhibition.

Free horse show set for Saturday

FILER — Fairgoers are invited to attend a free horse show Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, in the grandstand in Filer.

The show, which will get underway at noon, is presented annually by the Filer Wranglersettes, a ladies' riding club.

The list of events for the show includes bareback equitation for 17 years and under, English equitation, English pleasure, jumping, Western equitation for 12 years and under, pole bending, trail class, Western equitation for 12-17 years.

Computers come to the rodeo

FILER — This year the age of computers has reached the last frontier: the rodeos.

Cowboys entering the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo this year will be using the computer system adopted by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association for all sanctioned rodeos.

A central entry office has been set up in Fort Collins, Colo., and each member of the PRCA has been issued an ID number to use when calling to enter any rodeo approved by their organization.

From this central office all entries are taken, position and stock are drawn, and information is forwarded to rodeo secretaries on a telecopier machine. This works much like a regular Xerox machine, but runs long distance through the telephone wires.

This is far cry from the first rodeos which were sort of "on the spit" affairs involving from getting a group of cowboys, a corral full of unruly broncos, and a little spare time from working and the idea to see who could stay on his horse the longest. Each cowboy's name and the time he managed to stay on his horse, were probably jotted down on a piece of paper from someone's pockets.

Poultry judging Tuesday

FILER — The poultry department of the Twin Falls County Fair has a good selection of chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks each year. Judging in this department is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, according to Superintendent Doyle Striver, Jr.

Varieties of chickens on display will include Austral White, white Leghorn, black Australorp, barred Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red, white Plymouth Rock, New Hampshire Brahma, bantam, heavy and light cross breeds and show chickens.

Turkeys include Narragansett, white, bronze and Bourbon; geese, Toulouse and White Embden; ducks, Mallards, Pekin, Muscovy and Rouen.

Premiums in first and second place will be given in all poultry classes. There is also a class (or a pen) of three capons.

Pointers from a pro

By MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News writer
FILER — Good cooks in Magic Valley still have time to hunt up their favorite recipes and enter them in the culinary achievements in the Twin Falls County Fair.

Entries in this department will close at 6 p.m. Sept. 7 and exhibits must be in the kitchen and pantry building by 9 a.m. Sept. 7 for judging that day, according to Mrs. Clinton Dougherty, Filer superintendent.

Exhibits must be home-made and the product of the exhibitor. A special cash prize awaits the cook who wins the most first place ribbons. Best of Class awards will be given to the exhibitors who win in the bread and rolls, tea cakes and cookies classes. Blue ribbon winners in candies will receive ten pounds of sugar, and second-place winners will receive five pounds of sugar, besides the regular premiums and ribbons.

Canned products will include fruit, vegetables, meats, canned specialties, jellies, jams, preserves, marmalades, conserves; pickles, relishes and sauces. There is a new class for dried fruit and vegetables, fruit and meat jerky, smoked fish and fowl.

No mixes can be used in the pie competition and the pies must be made of fruit as no cream pies will be accepted.

Men cooks can compete for breads, cakes, candy, cookies and pies. This class "for men only" is a special one in the department and the superintendent urges more men to enter.

Community exhibits consist of women's clubs, church societies, prangings and other women's organizations who compete for canned produce, bread and cakes.

Sheep entries have new barn this year

FILER — Sheep entries at the Twin Falls County Fair this year will be housed in their new barn for the first time.

The new barn has space for 100 pens and will accommodate about 300 sheep. The old sheep barn is being used for additional cattle entries. The sheep barn is located at the east end of the driveway into the fairgrounds across from the 4-H horse barns. Sheep judging will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday, according to superintendent W. E. McCoy, Bull.

Premiums in four places will be paid for Hampshire, Corriedale, Suffolk, and Southdown. Each class has 11 divisions with rosettes and purple ribbons to go to champion and reserve champion lambs and ewes.

The market lamb class is open to purebred, grade or crossbred animals. The champion market lamb, all breeds, will receive a rosette, and the reserve champion will receive a purple ribbon.

The American Suffolk Sheep Society will present special awards to five classes of Suffolk. This competition will be open to exhibitors who are members of the American Suffolk Sheep Society.

Flower exhibition attracts fairgoers

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Many fairgoers purposely try each year to come to the Twin Falls County Fair the first day because they know there will be flower displays when they are at their freshest and best.

Entries in this department will be made all day Sept. 7 and until 9 a.m. Sept. 8. Judging set to begin at 10 a.m., according to Mrs. George Kinnin, Filer, and Mrs. Ed Harper, Bull, flower attendants. Anna Horn, Boise, will serve as judge.

All exhibits shown will be made of fresh cut, dried or treated plant material, as no artificial flowers or foliage are allowed.

Premiums in three places will be paid for large classes of asters, chrysanthemums, daffodils, gladiolus, petunias, roses, tuberous begonias, and many miscellaneous perennials, biennials and annuals.

This year there are two separate classes in artistic arrangements, amateur and advanced and premiums will be paid in both classes listed.

In honor of the fair theme "We The People," a special class has been listed for the arrangement best exemplifying the theme.

Fairgrounds buildings spruced up for fair

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Many of the buildings on the Filer Fairgrounds received new coats of paint this summer in the carnival colors being used throughout the grounds.

Grandstands, picnic tables, trash containers, as well as buildings, are gaily decked out in pink, blue, green and lavender, all the colors of the rainbow.

Since fairs are happy, carefree places, it seemed there is also a patriotic arrangement and an all red arrangement. Other arrangements use flowers with foliage, weathered wood, special containers, arrangements for special pictures and corsages.

Exhibitors may enter house plants, terrariums, hanging baskets and picture box arrangements.

Commercial exhibits of plants are also welcome and both community clubs and flower clubs and gardens will compete for the best exhibit of 12 kinds of flowers, best artistic exhibit and best quality exhibit.

Young gardeners, 10 years and under, are invited to compete in a junior flower class.

The fair board formed this class to encourage young flower gardeners to grow and display their flowers, and exhibits must be grown by the person in whose name they are entered.

Entries in this class will close at 9 a.m., Sept. 8. Judging will begin at 10 a.m., Sept. 8. A total of 33 classes will receive premiums in three places. Classes range from annuals, perennials, house plants, picture boxes, miniature arrangements, corsages and other arrangements.

only fitting to have the buildings reflect the carnival spirit, said Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the fair.

The different colors also make it easier to direct people to certain buildings. For instance, he said, "The art building is the lavender one, next to the orange metronome building."

The four restroom buildings on the grounds have all been painted lavishly, which makes it easier for children to locate them.

The bright color scheme was first carried out several years ago when the mini-train, which winds through the grounds carrying loads of people to and from places, was painted. People liked the gay colors, and the fair board decided to use them throughout the grounds.

This year, as in the past, fairgoers will enjoy the many planters and flower beds on the grounds all filled with beautiful flowers, the work of gardener Lud Dierkes.

Red, white and blue arrangements predominate, in honor of the Bicentennial.

GOSSIP COLUMN

By ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Q: When Caroline Kennedy goes to Radcliffe College in Cambridge, Mass., next month will any special security measures be taken to protect the dorm she lives in? — H.L., Bronxville, N.Y.

A: No, because she's going to live in Uncle Ted Kennedy's house on Beacon Hill in Kristofferson on the set of "A Star Is Born." I thought Kris was an easygoing country boy. What happened? — J.R., Decatur, Ga.

A: The simple-hearted country boy role seems to be evaporating. Kris tries to project a nice down home quality in public, but don't let it fool you — he's a match for Hanrahan any day.

Q: I thought the color in our movie "Survive" was a little strange. What was wrong with it? — T.J., New York, N.Y.

A: The color is strange because the movie, a Latin American production, was shot in black and white and then made into color.

And by the way, if the avalanche scene looked familiar, it's because it's footage snipped from an old Disney movie. None of this seems to matter, however, since the movie is raking in a fortune.

Q: I just read Irwin Shaw's "Nightwork" and would love to know who Gerda Nielsen is. Shaw dedicated the book to her. — J.T., Norfolk, Va.

A: Gerda Nielsen is the mother of one of Irwin Shaw's recent girlfriends, Bodie Nielsen. During their good times he thought about dedicating his book to her, but he compromised by dedicating the book to Bodie's mother instead.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who could write the definitive biography of the late billionaire Jean-Paul Getty? Britisher Mark Goulden, 24, who founded the prestigious English publishing company, W.H. Allen, Goulden edited Getty's autobiography and is one of the few people who claims to know the truth about Jean-Paul. Goulden says he was a lecher, a miser, and a womanizer, whose private life was often unbelievably bizarre. The publisher said recently that Getty never conquered his fear of death and tried to stay the ravages of old age by frequent face lifts.

Q: Where did that adorable Rones Blaskey, the girl who sang "My Idaho Home" in the film "Nashville," disappear to? I've been hoping to see her in another movie. — J.W., Denver, Colo.

A: Rones was supposed to do another film for Nashville director Robert Altman, but she got into a hassles with him over a record album, and he isn't speaking to her. She's been trying to get it together as a club singer and has been appearing in small night spots around the country this summer. It's tough time for her and she hasn't been having an easy time of it.

Q: What kind of lifestyle does Marion Brando enjoy when he retreats to that island hideaway he was in the South Pacific? Is it simple or luxurious there? — G.H., Beacon, N.Y.

A: Simpletly is the keynote. However, we have heard two bits of information that

MARLON BRANDO

... Oscar winner digs a Tony

We hear Jackie was not too happy with the security procedures in the Harvard dorms and decided she would be happier having Caroline ensconced in the Senator's house. Q: How is that wonderful actor Nick Nolte doing on his underwater movie, "The Deep"? — B.P., Huntington, W. Va.

A: We'd say courageously. Nolte's tangled in some fine coral, and as a result his body's covered with huge painful wreaths. He has been treated with cortisone and has not missed a day of shooting on this enormously difficult picture.

The cameras were going when Nolte swam into the vicious coral bed and the accident-line boat incorporated into the movie.

Q: What's Genevieve Bjold up to? I thought she was terrific in "Obsession." — R.T., Grand Rapids, Mich.

A: Genevieve doesn't share your feelings. She didn't like either "Obsession" or her other film, "Swashbuckler," so she's back home in Malibu sulking. She was supposed to do some publicity for "Swashbuckler" but decided it wasn't deserving of any extra effort.

A rather pretentious little lady, that one. SCANDAL TIME: The mistress of a famous American novelist finally got tired of his drinking and abuse. She now has left his bed and modest board to go home and write her own book. Of course he's going to be featured in the lady's novel, lightly disguised, but all his friends will recognize the main character.

Q: I read all about those vicious fights between Barbra Streisand and Kris.

Bjold is a real character. However, we have heard two bits of information that make it clear Bjold isn't living like a castaway. He has ordered six flickshaws for his paradise, and also rumor has it that Marlon has one of the biggest collections of Tony Bennett records and plays them constantly.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Q: You recently mentioned Ethel Kennedy as dating New York's Gov. Hugh Carey. I'd like to know about her sister-in-law, Pat

A: Those were the plans. However, shooting of "The Heretic" has been delayed because John Boorman, the director, contracted a mysterious lung ailment. Also trouble in Ireland has caused producers to switch the film location of "Equus" to Canada.

Q: I saw some pictures of Brigitte Bardot with a pet baby and she was sleeping in her armchair. Does she still have it?

A: Mmm, I don't know.

The seal got too big for the pool and too much for B.B. to handle, so she donated Chez-Cheu to the Marineland on the French Riviera. Unfortunately, the seal is spoiled.

Brigitte won't play with the other seals and will only eat fish soup and bottled milk. The Marineland manager would love Bardot to come and take Chez-Cheu back home.

Q: Are they really going to do a TV series next year about a homosexual hairdresser? What do the gay people have to say about it?

— D.G., Los Angeles.

A: Don't think BBC wasn't worried about reaction from the homosexual community. The network hired a psychologist from the Gay Media Task Force as an advisor on "Slip," the new show. The psychologist, who claims he sees all the scripts, says the hairdresser is portrayed with great sensitivity. The role is being played by Walter Wanderman. The heterosexual lead in the show, David Brenner, a New York actor, has rented a house in Beverly Hills while the show is in production. We hear Brenner has also renewed the lease on his Manhattan apartment just in case "Slip" lacks sponsors.

Q: I read that the leading man in "Little Night Music" was fired. Does anyone know the reason? — E.E., Chapel Hill, N.C.

A: As the chemistry, it seems, just wasn't right, Liz started rehearsing with British actor Robert Stephens and less than an hour later he was sent packing. It was described as a case of "instant dislike" on "Miss Taylor's" part, but then we also hear that she was expecting Ned Williamson to be playing opposite her. Stephens has been replaced by Len Cariou, who was in the Broadway version of the musical. At any rate Stephens got a check for $32,000, which is a nice consolation prize.

Kennedy Lawford. Is there a man in her life? — G.G., Boston, Mass.

A: Pat Lawford, 51, has been seen on the Costa Esmeralda in Sardinia with Antonio D'Amico, a handsome shipping tycoon from Naples. What is it about these shipping fleet owners that makes them so attractive?

Q: What's this about Norman Mailer acting in a movie with porno star Marilyn Chambers? — D.D., Pawling, N.Y.

A: Actually Mailer had to withdraw from Nicholas Ray's film, "City Blues," because the starting date was delayed and ended up conflicting with the time he had promised to work with his children in a movie which features Marilyn and also Rip Torn. Isn't a porno film, Marilyn wants to go straight, and Mailer has more sense than to go porno.

Q: Is Robert Shaw's 24-year-old daughter, Debbie Shaw, an actress? — H.A., Haverford, Pa.

A: Debbie, one of Shaw's nine children, has been working as an apprentice in the London Theater. She loves the entertainment business but wants to be a director rather than an actress. One reason is that she watched the gradual decline of her stepmother, Mary Ure, who fell into a depression as she grew older and her career diminished.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: What item was selling like proverbial hot cakes at the Republican national convention? It was a can attractively packaged and labeled "Washington Hot 'Air.'" Two young men helping to capitalize on a fad like Pet Rocks were selling the cans for $2 apiece and, surprisingly enough, were doing a good business among the delegates.

Q: Will Richard Burton make the movie version of "Equus" as soon as he finishes "The Heretic"? — M.M., Port Washington, N.Y.
